

ANNALS OF QUINCY—1870

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH AT WOLLA TON CONSTITUTED.

Evangelical Congregational Church Dedicated; Town House Remodelled.

January 1. Fares on the Old Colony

February 6. Emerson Shaw killed a boy which weighed 608 pounds.

The same day the town appropriate $2,500 and the dog tax toward the establishment of a public library, providing that an equal sum should be raised by private subscription.

An appropriation of $3,140 was also made for the enlargement of the Mt. Wollaston Cemetery; Messrs. William G. Patten (chairman), E. W. Underwood (secretary), Ensign S. Fellows, George H. Locke, John Faxon and Joshua H. Spear, were chosen a committee to make the proposed enlargement.

An appropriation of $7000 was made for the remodeling of the Town House, which was completed under the direction of Messrs. E. W. Underwood, George D. Locke, Charles N. Ditsen, Edward E. Dewson and Charles H. Porter.

May 26, a balloon ascension was made from a circus ground in the rear of the Quinby depot, near the Quinby College.

After reaching a height of about fifty feet the balloon became unmanageable and descended at the corner of Temple and Hancock streets, demolishing a chimney in the Adams block and also a covered way which stood in the yard.

July 13, the First Baptist Church of Wollaston constituted. Pattee's History of Quincy published in 1878, says: "The importance and necessity of organizing a Baptist Church at Wollaston Heights early engaged the attention of brethren who had become residents of the place. . . . Meetings were held July 13, 1871, and meeting was held July 10, 1871, and the church consisting of twenty-three members, was duly constituted under the name of 'The First Baptist Church of Wollaston Heights.' The usual declaration of faith and church covenant were adopted. A building committee of three was appointed to prepare plans and arrange for erecting at once a house of worship. The church was publicly reorganized by the Ecclesiastical Council, September 19, 1871, and a week later it was received into the Boston South Association. In December, the church called Rev. Stephen G. Abbott, of Townsend, Vt., to become its pastor. He entered upon his labors January 1, 1872. Services were held in the Union Chapel.

Church was dedicated. The first meeting house of this society was the building standing at the corner of Hancock and Canal streets. Under the ministrations of Mr. Hall the need was felt for a better and more commodious church. The present house was raised in June, 1870. The building and land cost about $30,000.

Quincy, July 11

Quincy Local.

1887. Wanted—a horse railroad. The days are increasing in length. The day to make new resolutions. Vol. 51, No. 1, of the PATRIOT, sleighing commenced again Thursday. James W. and W. T. Pierce are both ill. There was good skating till the storm.

Ensign S. Fellows continues in very low health. The public schools open again Monday morning. The Spear family has its winter gathering Jan. 12.

C. H. Bellows and wife of Littleton, spent Christmas in town. Miss C. S. Hubbard holds her annual sale of Hamburg edgings.

Miss Ellen Hersey has moved into her new house on Canal street. The Unitarian Social Club were to dance the new year in at Faxon Hall.

At Bass' corner store, this week, felt shoes and slippers are the specialty. Henry H. Faxon's checks to the Sunday Schools made many children happy.

What do you think of the days since Christmas governing the months of 1887. Rev. W. J. Crowley, of Ohio, will preach in the Unitarian Church tomorrow.

Mr. John Brooks resumes his position as gate tender at the Water-street crossing today. Many of our advertisers who have seen this week, report large sales of holiday goods.

James Mahoney a veteran of the war, is very ill this week at his home on Water-street. Randall & Keith have the contract to build C. C. Johnson's new house on Faxon place.

Quincy politicians have invitations to the Governor-elect, inaugural next Thursday. We were pleased to see the snow glow on early Friday morning clearing our sidewalks.

Mrs. S. Kincaide offers her entire stock of millinery goods at less than cost, to close out. The annual ball for the benefit of John Merritt was to take place at Town Hall last evening.

The pedestal for the large Peter Cooper monument on Manhattan Island is to be of Quincy granite. The St. John's C. L. A. Association at church Sunday morning.

C. H. Rogers has some handsome organs and pianos of the latest styles, which he offers for sale at bargain. Next Thursday is Epiphany, celebrated in some churches in commemoration of the appearance of our Saviour.

Representative Quincy will be initiated into the mysteries of the lower house of the Legislature next Wednesday. J. Q. Denton, of the firm of Denton & Pratt was poisoned by dogwood Christmas and is confined to the house.

Extra late trains will accommodate Quincy people attending the Old Colony ball in Boston next Friday evening. For fine pictures of yourself or children call at Russell's, on Chestnut street. His colored pastels, life size, are very fine.

At Christ Church on Sunday, Rev. Bishop Paddock administered the rite of confirmation to ten ladies and two gentlemen. The Associated Charities will meet in conference in the Selectmen's Rooms next Tuesday at 3 p. m. A full attendance is required.

James J. Malloy, Esq., returned from the West the day before Christmas. He has grown a full beard, and is apparently in better health. The St. John's Sunday School presented an opera at the Town Hall, Thursday evening. The singing and tableaux were very good indeed.

The sub-committee will submit the charter to the general committee next Wednesday evening. A public meeting will soon be called. The L. S. L. Club connected with the Unitarian Church were to meet at Miss Eliza Wildman's last evening. The chief attraction, a mock trial.

The familiar face of Deputy Sheriff Niles will be missed in the District Court Room. Sheriff Endicott having appointed John T. Flood of Randolph, in his place. A slight fire in the new house of Frank and David Flowers on Quincy street Monday afternoon, was extinguished without alarm. Defective fire.

L. Gardner of South Weymouth estimates the distance of the sun from the earth, at Quincy, at noon today, Jan. 1st, 1887, to be 90,480,500 miles. The Christmas crowd at the Unitarian Church on Sunday evening last was excellent, and much appreciated by the audience.

Adams Curtis, formerly of this town, and son of Charles Curtis, died in New York on Tuesday evening. He was about thirty-five years old and leaves a widow and two children. Colin McPhail, a Granite street resident, died suddenly Christmas morning. Can McGrover, of which the deceased was a member, attended the funeral with full rank Monday.

Christmas was observed in the churches according to the programme published in last week's PATRIOT. The stores closed about ten in the morning and it was a general holiday. Mr. Henry E. Flint, a resident of Foster street, died quite suddenly on Sunday last. He has been an invalid for several years, his disease being heart trouble. He leaves a widow and one son.

At the Congregational Church tomorrow the pastor will preach in the morning a sermon for the New Year. In the evening there will be a social service appropriate to the opening of the year. There is considerable complaint because the Quincy Adams depot is not open to accommodate passengers on the late inward train. It is very disagreeable to wait out doors these cold nights.

A pleasing interruption in last Sunday morning's rehearsal at the Congregational Church was the presentation to the chorister, Mr. Tilson A. Mead, by the members of the choir, of a solid silver tipped baton. The Rev. Mr. Cotton was so indisposed with a serious cold, as to be unable to take part in the church service on Sunday. Owing to his indisposition there was no evening service. He has since been to bed, and we are sorry to learn, is not improving very fast.

ATLANTIC.

Wanted—a horse railroad. Miss H. J. Adams and Capt. B. E. Redman of Atlantic were married in Canby, N. H., Dec. 23d. Several of our young people are ill, among them the little son of J. W. Estabrook, daughters of Louis Rinn and E. C. Sweet, and three children of Mrs. Bartlett. The Catholic Sunday School had its Christmas tree and festival Wednesday evening. The singing was very good.

Nearly all the Christmas boys are to join the Firemen's Relief Association. Mr. Matthew Henderson is confined to the house with neuralgia. Angus Nelson had a narrow escape from fire Wednesday morning: a can of oil which he had placed near the stove exploded. The fire was promptly extinguished.

On Sunday at the Memorial Congregational Church, subject of morning sermon "The Eighth Beatitude." Evening subject, "Baptism of the Holy Spirit." Next week the Week of Prayer will be observed in the church, services every evening except Saturday, beginning at 4.30.

On New Year's evening the evangelizing will take place at the Memorial Church, when it is hoped there will be a large attendance and great results. Commence at 7.

The Congregational Sunday School, passed off finely. The entertainment was very pleasing, this was under the management of a committee consisting of Mrs. A. B. Bassett, Mrs. C. Drew, Mrs. E. G. Hall, Mrs. R. Wilde and Mrs. J. Carver, and one of the recitations and songs, mostly by the children, who did credit to themselves and the committee. The singing was under the leadership of Mr. T. B. Emery.

At the close of the entertainment the pastor's address was given. A large presentation speech and present in behalf of the Ladies' Benevolent Society, a token of their esteem and thankfulness for Mr. Henry L. Hallett, whose hands are ever ready to do what they can, to help forward any good work. This token was in the shape of a beautiful silver cake stand and a handsome hanging lamp.

Mr. Hallett was taken greatly by surprise and expressed his thanks for the gift. Mr. Bristol, believing his work was accomplished, started to take his seat, when he was unceremoniously stopped, and told to go back, which he obeyed. He was then confronted by Miss Lillian Waterhouse who in a very neat speech presented him with a token from the church and congregation in the shape of a good sized wall. Mr. H. was completely taken off his feet by the turn in affairs, and could hardly find words to express his gratitude. But finally he covered enough to make a short address of thanks. Upon later investigation the wall was found to contain between $30 and $40. The tree was hastily despoiled of its fruit which was distributed among the congregation and all went away pleased and happy with the time enjoyed.

One evening the first of the week the ga-furished was very weak: in fact it was so poor, that the man that put out the street lights, thought them out, and they burned until morning. There is complaint, however, because they are put out too early, but they will be left until the late train arrives.

S. F. Willard sprained his ankle Tuesday and is confined to the house. The Fosse Company meet next Monday evening. John A. McKie fell in Boston two weeks ago while on his postal route, and has been confined to the bed since.

Owing to the indisposition of some of the performers the public musicale, to have been held in the Baptist church next Monday evening, has been postponed for two weeks. The wife of a policeman at Middle-town, Ohio, took out a revolver to show a neighbor how she would treat tramps if they molested her. In returning the weapon to the drawer it was accidentally discharged and her five-year-old daughter was instantly killed.

DOUBLE SUICIDE. Two young girls, under twenty years of age named Sadie Bigelow and Lizzie Hart, committed suicide in their room on Tremont street, Boston, Christmas night by taking "Rough on Rats." The true cause of the tragedy is unknown, but about two weeks ago the cashier who purported to be a cashier's check or draft for an amount somewhere between $500 and $1000. It was made out, or alleged to be, by the cashier of a Kansas City bank, and was drawn on the National Bank of New York, in favor of Reed. It was indorsed by a prominent citizen of Abington, known to the cashier, and to appearances was right, but the cashier demanded that Reed should prove his identity, and he did so later, and received the large amount called for by the check in cash.

A day or two later the check was received back, undischarged, refused by the bank on which it was drawn, and the Boston cashier realized that he was so much money out. The police were called in, and investigation developed the fact that the names of the Kansas City cashier and that of the indorser were both forged. A warrant for Reed's arrest was at once issued, and it was supposed he would be easily apprehended, as he had been seen by an officer only a few hours before, but he had slipped.

He has been under indictment in Suffolk county for a like offense and his record is very crooked. VERY SUCCESSFUL. In October last the Adams Express saw to St. Louis & San Francisco railway train, robbed of all the money it contained, amounting to about $80,000. The famous Pinkerton Detective Agency, of Chicago, were given the job to ferret out the robbers and obtain, if possible, a part or the whole of their booty, and began the hunt immediately after the robbery took place. The detectives have succeeded in running down and arresting five men connected with the crime, and obtaining $40,000 of the stolen money, and have hopes that still more will be recovered.

NEW ENGLAND FARMER. During the past year the readers of the New England Farmer have had ten per cent more reading than before, by the adoption of more careful condensation, economy in headings, etc. This paper now celebrates the completion of its 25th volume, and of the first under the management of George M. Whitaker, by an enlargement of its borders so as to give yet more reading. It also appears in eight page form, pasted and trimmed, and makes a very neat appearance. Under the careful and judicious management of the late Mr. Whitaker, it will be greatly prized by its numerous readers.

The Stoughton Musical Society held its annual meeting in Randolph, on Christmas afternoon. Winslow Battles of Randolph, was selected president, Bro. Huxford of the Randolph Register declined a reelection, secretary and Samuel W. Hodges of Stoughton was elected.

—Brookline is to have a fire alarm system. —The Selectmen of Framingham have given three leagues on the sewerage question. There is some talk of building a sewer through Natick and Newton and connecting with the Moon Island system.

—A French and others, have sold to the Old Colony R. R. Co., two parcels of land on the easterly side of said railroad for $12,360. —The Squire Cooperative Shoe Company is nearly ready to commence work.

—Land has been purchased in Holbrook for a Catholic Church. —Randolph has a raisin factory. —Bainbridge High School re-union on Wednesday evening, Feb. 2.

—The State Board of Labor Arbitration and Conciliation will give a hearing at Enfield Hall, Weymouth, at 9.30 A. M., on Monday next, in regard to the differences between the boat and shoe employees. This interest, as it concerns

WOLLASTON.

Happy New Year! Wollaston boys railroad. Overhand those old resolutions; perhaps you can crush them up a little and pass them off for new ones. Preaching at the M. E. Church Friday evening, but no watch-night services to last till midnight. Special services will be held after Monday next week. A postponed meeting of the Literary Society, or Elliot Club, was held at A. A. Lincoln's on Thursday evening. Applications for membership in the Lodge of Knights of Honor come in freely. The skating has been fine this week and greatly enjoyed by a large number of persons. Much complaint is made because of the distance, and evil influence caused by skating on Sunday; it ought to be stopped.

The Musical Society held a regular meeting on Monday evening. The Baptists had a tree and entertainment on Christmas Eve. The Congregationalists a representation of the "old woman who lived in a shoe." At the Methodist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus paid a visit, much to the delight of the children, and large number of friends present. A large and small tree were required to hold the gifts. It was a delightful time and much enjoyed.

It would be hard to imagine a more successful concert than was held at the latter church on Sunday night. More than fifty of the younger portion of the Sabbath School were to take part in the exercises and recitations, and strange to say, not one of the number was absent, and the programme was carried out without any prompting, or break whatever. Some fifty extra seats were provided to seat the large audience. Two pieces written for the occasion were spoken, and the pastor gave the closing address. A large star sparkling with brilliancy suspended from the wall back of the pulpit, together with wreaths and mottoes, comprised some of the decorations. Potted plants in profusion were placed along the front of the platform, while a large and finely executed design representing an "open door." Much praise is due to all the participants.

Mr. A. Williams has moved into the house lately occupied by Mr. Wentworth on the corner of the street. One evening the first of the week the ga-furished was very weak: in fact it was so poor, that the man that put out the street lights, thought them out, and they burned until morning. There is complaint, however, because they are put out too early, but they will be left until the late train arrives.

WEST QUINCY.

It would be good news indeed to West Quincy people and others as well, if the remark of a railroad man the other day were true. He said that within ten years West Quincy would be on a "direct road" of the Old Colony. He thought the Old Colony had this step in view when they secured the necessary legislation to connect the Granite and Shawmut branches. When this change was made it would be an easy task to connect the Granite Branch with the main line at Quincy Adams. This circuit with frequent trains would give most of the Old Colony's suburban patrons excellent accommodations. Now with few trains and long waits at Atlantic it is tedious and provoking.

Re. Henry Burr was happily surprised by his friends at Christmas time, being presented with a sleigh, something he very much needed and wanted. The attendance at the lecture in the M. E. church on Wednesday evening was smaller than the preceding ones, probably because of the holidays. Rev. John Peterson of Newton was the lecturer.

We are informed by one of the Catholic clergy that the proposed parochial school in this district will not be built for some years yet. Wanted—a horse railroad.

MILTON. The East Milton depot has had its ceiling painted and walls cleaned this week. The East Milton Church had a pleasing Christmas concert Sunday evening. Last evening there was to be a festival and tree. Henry, son of Mr. Henry Gallagher was seriously ill at last reports.

The Union firemen's ball came off at the Town Hall last night. The Selectmen and other town officers make their annual visit to the Town Farm next Monday. This is their only junketing trip of the year, and no one enjoys it more than the genial editor of the Milton News.

Miss Emma Zeigler is to take Miss Lincoln's room in the opening of another term, and Miss Deafth of the south part of the town fills the vacancy. Wanted—a horse railroad.

At the regular meeting of Milton Division, No. 16, S. of T., held on Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected: W. P. —Walter E. Williams. W. A. —Maria Stevens. W. S. —Lenard Elden. A. R. Why Is It So.
Some find work where some find rest,
And so the weary world goes on;
Sometimes wonder which is best—
The answer comes when life is gone.
Some eyes sleep when some eyes weep,
And so the dreary night hours pass;
Some hearts beat where some hearts break—
I often wonder why 'tis so.

Some hands fold where other hands
Are lifted bravely in the strife;
And so they pass their weary hours,
Move on the two extremes of life.
Some feet halt where some feet tread,
In tireless march, a thorny way;
Some struggle on where some have fled;
Some seek when others shun the fray.
Some sleep on while others keep
The vigil of the true and brave;
They will not rest till roses creep Around their names above a grave.
—Every Other Saturday.

Miscellaneous.
QUINCY'S MORTALITY.
248 have passed away during 1886.
CONSUMPTION, PNEUMONIA AND HEART DISEASE ON THE INCREASE.

The list of deaths in Quincy during 1886, as published below, shows a total of 248; 134 males and 114 females. The increase over 1885 was eighteen, while the population probably increased 200. The summary below shows the deaths among each sex for each month of the year, and compares the total with the four preceding years. It will be seen that October was the most fatal month, and February the healthiest, while the mortality was greater among the males than the females.

The second table shows the deaths for given periods, and compares the total with that of the preceding two years. It will be noticed that 117, nearly one half, died before reaching the age of 21, while 68 were over 60.

Among the most prominent and well-known men were Hon. Charles Francis W. Weston, Alexander Vining, William Webb, Samuel W. Jenkins, Isaiah G.
Whitton and Emanuel Sumner. Among those who died of town, and were brought here, was the Hon. Charles Francis Adams.

In the list are two nonagenarians: Michael Collins, 92, and Mrs. Mary Adams, 91. Also four octogenarians: Mrs. Sally Harmon, 87; Henry Larkin, 86; Mrs. Margaret McLane, 86; Mrs. Cynthia Southern, 85;
Mrs. Catherine Lacy, 84; William Harrington, 84; John Parrott, 83; Mrs. Sarah Phalen, 82; Patrick Owens, 82; Mrs. Mary
French, 82; Peter R. Winn, 81; Louis P.
Scott, 81; Maria S. Quincy, 81; and Charles
McG. Smith, 80.

Quincy's Representative.

Our Representative, Josiah Quincy, is proving himself to be the active and progressive legislator that his friends and the town expected. Scarcely a day passes but he introduces some bill or petition.

Monday, on his motion, an order was adopted, as to further legislation to provide for the weekly payment of wages by corporations. Also, by the same, as to preventing any officer or employee in the civil service of the State or any city therein, from serving as a member of a regular standing committee of any political party.

Tuesday, another, as to legislation to equalize the respective interests of husband and wife in all their property and estate.

Thursday, he offered an order, as to authorizing the incorporation of labor organizations.

On Friday of last week he introduced a bill to secure the secrecy of all ballots at elections of national, State, district or county officers and to prevent bribery and corruption. The bill provides that the Secretary of State shall keep on hand self-sealing ballots, marked with the arms of the State, to be furnished to the town clerks at least ten days before the election; that they be distributed at the polls by the deputy clerks in precincts, and by persons appointed by the Selectmen in towns not divided into precincts, who shall not receive more than fifty cents for the ballot box and who shall not solicit votes. No votes not inclosed in envelopes are to be received unless the supplies given off. Fine of $100 or imprisonment for sixty days is the penalty for violation.

Burns' Anniversary.

As will be seen by advertisement in another column the 125th anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, Scotch poet, will be celebrated by Clan McGregor of this town, on Tuesday evening, Jan. 25th, in a manner worthy of the occasion. The Coliseum has been engaged for the event, and the splendid array of first class talent that has been engaged positively indicates that the home was determined to maintain their previous reputation in this respect.

The present efficient staff of officers seem to be determined that expense will be no obstacle in the way of presenting a concert that should be patronized by all admirers of the famous bard.

Dancing will follow the entertainment, music being furnished by Dunbar's orchestra.

HORSE KILLED.

Between eleven and twelve o'clock last Saturday morning as Mr. J. B. Benson was returning home in his sleigh, his horse being frightened at a double runner near the top of Bent's hill in Washington street, became unmanageable and struck against the first alarm poles, with such force as to break it off. The wires fell, seriously cutting the horse across the breast, and badly injured Mr. Benson. The horse was taken to the residence of John Page, Jr., where he gave out, and his injuries were so severe that he was unable to move. The horse was a very valuable one, worth $500, and was owned by a New York man.

ACCIDENT.

Last Saturday morning about eleven o'clock Dr. J. H. Gillette was riding in his sleigh along Goffe street, the unevenness of the snow caused the sleigh, throwing him out, and he was dragged a short distance. His shoulder, arm and head were injured, and he believes he would have fared much worse had he not been protected by a heavy coat and cap. He claims that the snow plow, which was run in the center of the street, threw up the snow in such a way as to make sleighing unsafe, and has therefore asked the town to settle.

PAY DAY.

The pay day clause in the agreement between the granite manufacturers and the employes continues to cause trouble and minor strikes. The manufacturers are not as particular in paying on or before the fifteenth of each month as they should be, it often being the sixteenth or later. If an agreement of this kind means anything it should be followed to the strict letter. There is no reason why the manufacturers could not make a practice of paying the thirteen or fourteenth and not wait until the last of the fifteenth and then because of some unforeseen circumstance delay it later. When it is over date, the employes must ask when they are to be paid; this the manufacturers call interfering, and rather than answer the question civilly allow the men to strike. At this season of the year they are not particular whether the men work or not, but allowing the facts to be believe the public will side with the men.

NEW PASTOR.

Rev. Eben Meuse was installed pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Quincy in Faxon's Hall, on Thursday evening, Jan. 13th, by a Committee of the Presbytery of Boston. Rev. Mr. Fullerton read the scriptures and led in prayer; Rev. Mr. Barrows of South Boston presided, preached the sermon and propounded the constitutional questions; and Rev. J. L. Scott and Rev. J. W. Sanders were invited to deliver the charges to pastor and people. The congregation was large and services impressive. The pastor preached his inaugural sermon on Sunday.

AGED COUPLES.

The seventy-second anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Thompson was recently celebrated in East Bridgewater. Mr. Thompson's eyesight is good, he being able to read without glasses, but his hearing is defective, while with his wife the reverse is the case. They are supposed to be the oldest married couple in the state.

QUINCY WILL ACKNOWLEDGE HERITAGE.

Notwithstanding the fact that Quincy was not one of the original members of the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association, the Quincy Firemen's Relief Association has decided to hold an all-night ball at the Coliseum on Tuesday evening, Jan. 25th, in aid of the association. All the fire companies in town are interested, and have been active for several weeks selling tickets. The committee of arrangements were Chief Engineer Hall, T. H. Conley, A. G. Olney, N. E. Glover, F. E. Burdell, D. J. Nye, W. F. Powers, and A. C. Morris. Chief Hall was floor marshal and William F. Powers, floor director.

REUNION.

The fourteenth annual reunion of the Massachusetts Press Association will be held at the United States Hotel, Boston, on Tuesday next. Banquet at 3 o'clock. In the evening the party will attend the Boston Theatre, by invitation of the management, to witness Lawrence Barrett in one of his famous characters.

QUINCY POINT.

DEATH.

Mr. Washburn, at Stug Harbor, German-town, died on Sunday morning last, at the advanced age of eighty-three years. He had been at the harbor for twenty years, and was one of the oldest inmates of the Home. Mr. Washburn has, until within the past two years, taken entire charge of the flower gardens, which have been of such ornament to the place, and has always been much interested in his work. His funeral took place on Tuesday; Rev. Charles Williams preached the funeral sermon. His remains were interred in the burying ground at the Harbor.

Mrs. Jane Maynard died on Tuesday, after a very short illness; a sufferer from typhoid fever, brought on by a sudden cold, only eight days previous to her death. She has for many years been a Point or Neck resident, making it her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Snow. Her funeral took place on Thursday at 2 P. M.; Rev. George Benedict officiating. On Friday the body was taken to Stow, her native place for burial.

THIS AND THAT.

Twenty-seven pupils, from the A and B Grammar rooms at the Washington, went on a sleigh ride to Brighton, on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Tisdale had charge of the party, which is equivalent to saying that everything passed off satisfactorily.

Mr. Robin H. Newcomb's horse died on Tuesday night.

TOBACCO CLUB.

Although a tobacco club has been in our midst for the last two months, few persons at the Point have known of its existence. The club was organized to the "Big Four," the membership was limited to ten, and all to be residents of the Point. The officers elected were President J. E. Dewhurst, Messrs. E. E. McClintock, E. E. Dewhurst, and W. J. Thompson, a committee of Wollaston Congregational Sunday School, called upon Mr. Henry H. Faxon, last Saturday and presented him with a handsome engraved and framed testimonial, which was placed in complimentary terms, and signed by the superintendent, officers, teachers and pupils of the Sunday School. Mr. Faxon appreciates the gift very much.

Wednesday morning it was eighteen degrees below zero.

WEST QUINCY.

Quincy is about to lose another valued teacher. Mr. C. W. Haley, the principal of the Wollaston school, on Wednesday elected principal of the West street school in Haverhill. The position being a better paying and less laborious one than at the Wollaston, he has concluded to accept, and will leave Quincy shortly.

Because of the illness of Rev. T. C. Watkins the lecture in the M. E. course did not occur Wednesday evening.

Coasting has been excellent, Badger's large double runner has been out on Cross street evenings. It was a jumbo.

Mr. Lamb advertised his large store to let. Town meeting is nearly here and the voters of West Quincy should bestir themselves that they may secure a sewerage system, more hydrants, better sidewalks and more street lights.

THE CAT HOLE.

MILTON, Jan. 11th, 1887.

To the Publishers of the Patriot:

Your story of the "Tall Tale," in a recent number of the Patriot, to many might seem like fiction, but to me it is a reality, as I was personally acquainted with one of the same kind.

Some seventy years ago, when I lived in Quincy, there came to town from a distance, a young man looking for work, which he soon found, and being of a very saving disposition he was able to find a better place, but he was not to be put into a bank that failed, becoming discouraged he made up his mind that if he lost the interest, he would have the principal where it would be safe.

In his last sickness, when almost too far gone to articulate distinctly, he made out to pronounce the word "Cat hole" several times, but to his hearers they were unmeaning words, as the name of "Cat hole" was unknown to any of the then family. His brother, who was a neighbor to the place, was appointed his executor, and while up at the homestead one day, some one spoke of his brother saying "Cat hole," a number of times. The brother at once remembered the old "Cat hole" of his boyhood days, and as it was suspected that he had been to the bank, he could not be found, he examined the "Cat hole," where he discovered some tell tale bricks, on removing of which he took several bags of silver, which he took and brought home with him, and as I was assisting him in settling up some where, he told me to help him, it which we found to be no small job. We found about $2,184.87, as follows:

In silver dollar and five-cent pieces 145 00

About 1000 half dollars 500 00

The rest of the money was made up of

of pistons, 124. 64, 10 and 5 cent

pieces and two dollars in paper

and seven cents. $1,049 87

We took this amount in two bags and carried it to the bank for safe keeping, and it was about as much as we wanted to carry.

A City Charter Reported.

Messrs. Josiah Quincy and Signatory Butler have drawn up a city charter, which after amendments, has been adopted by the sub-committee, and is ready to be reported to the Committee of Fifteen created at the mass meeting of December 14, 1885. It is the result of considerable study and mature deliberation. If Quincy desires to change to a city form of government, the charter presented commends itself to all. On the third page of this PATRIOT will be found a lengthy report of the sub-committee to draft a charter, while in the supplement will be found the proposed charter in full. With these long documents to read it will not be expected that we shall add anything further at this time. We ask all to read both carefully and then say whether the charter is a desirable one or not. The other question, shall Quincy become a city, may be considered afterwards. A larger edition than usual has been printed and extra copies may be secured of the several news agents.

Burns' Anniversary.

John McGregory of Quincy celebrated the 125th anniversary of Robert Burns in a suitable manner in the Coliseum on Tuesday evening. This Peter Kerr presided and in his opening address stated the objects of the Club and the purpose for which they came together, one of the principal being to commemorate the birth of Scotland's illustrious poet, whose merits he eulogized in glowing terms.

Addresses were also made by W. R. Emerson of Boston, Rev. J. B. Green of Gloucester, and H. M. Fothergill, Esq., of Quincy. The Club McGregory Club gave several selections and there were solos and duets by Miss Annie M. Shill, Miss Grace H. Adams, Miss Edith Randall, and Miss Mabel Shaw; Miss Daniel being several young misses from Boston, and readings by Prof. Charles Hickson.

Relocating Canal Street.

The Road Commissioners gave a hearing at the Town House last Saturday on the petition of Edwin W. Marsh and others for widening, locating and laying out of that portion of Canal street east of Washington. Plan and specifications were shown which called for a uniform width of forty feet, which would require the widening of the thoroughfare at several points, viz: at McKenke & Patterson's works, at the residence of Winslow Burdell, at the residence of Mr. Marsh, and at the residence of Mr. Marsh.

Articles for Town Warrant.

The Selectmen have been requested to insert articles in the annual warrant as follows: One to locate hydrants on Hancock street near the Atlantic Catholic Church, near Lemuel Billings' house, near Standish street, near Mrs. Gregory's house, on Water street, near Quincy on Brackett street, near gas works on Farrington, corner Central avenue, on Warren avenue, corner Highland avenue, on near the grain mill and Quincy depot, and one near the boiler works at Quincy Point.

District Court, Quincy.

W. O. Crocker and C. W. Wilde, officers of Holbrook have returned a warrant to search the premises of Bridget F. Daly, and return on liquor found. Chief Fred, on complaint of Officer Crocker, was arraigned Wednesday for selling liquor; continued to Saturday. James Mahoney of Randolph, on complaint of Officer Farrell for being a vagrant committed to Feb. 25 in $100 surety. Henry Chauncey of West Quincy, on complaint of Officer Faxon was arraigned Wednesday on two complaints for admitting minors to a billiard room, and pleaded guilty; paid $10 and costs on one and $10 on the other.

Improvement Society.

A very pleasing dramatic and musical entertainment was given under the auspices of the Quincy Village Improvement Society at Faxon Hall on Monday evening. Two scenes from the "School of Scandal" and the dramatic proverb, "Much Cohn, Much Care," were presented very creditably by local amateurs. The actors in the first were: Sir Peter Teazle, Mr. W. T. Babcock, Lady Teazle, Mrs. W. T. Babcock, Dick, a collier, Mr. Emory L. Crane, Meg, his wife, Mrs. W. T. Babcock, Lady Amaranth, Miss M. P. Valentine, Justin, French Maid, Miss F. S. Davis, and the musical programme consisted of songs by Miss Abby Chamberlain, and quartettes and solos by the Swedish Song Quartette. The excellence of the productions of the first two are well known to their townspeople, while the quartette and solos elicited in each instance, several encores being given.

ATLANTIC.

The people in this section will never be content until both Walker and Billing streets have been extended through to the former to Newbury and the latter to Squantum street. They have repeatedly asked the town to do it, but seem to make little or no progress. Now is the time to make these extensions before building obstruct the way.

WOLLASTON.

NEW POSTMASTER APPOINTED. Joseph A. Bass has been appointed postmaster of Wollaston, the news comes from the town clerk. The summer view, current is circulated among the Democrats of Wollaston asking that no change be made in the postmaster. We are informed from credible sources that it received the signature of every Democrat in the town, and is now being circulated. The petition to Washington stating the fact, Frank H. Russell, of Boynton & Russell, the present postmaster, is and has been giving perfect satisfaction, and we think it can be said that there is not a better arranged four-class office in the State. Its receipts are about $800 per year, out of which the postmaster must pay all expenses. A bond of $4,000 is required, which we learn the appointee has given some labor in raising. Boynton & Russell say that the office must be moved from their block, but Mr. Bass tells us he has not yet secured any location. He has approached A. L. Baker on the subject, but met with little encouragement. He has also approached Mr. T. W. Russell, the present location is the most central and desirable, and any material change is sure to meet with disapproval. Mr. Bass, we understand will not give his personal supervision of the office during the day, but will appoint an assistant.

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

thority generally had and exercised by the head of such department in the cities of this Commonwealth.

SEC. 32. Whenever there shall be a vacancy in the office of mayor, or whenever by reason of sickness or absence from the city the mayor shall be disabled from attending to the duties of his office, the commissioner of public works shall act as mayor and possess all the rights and powers of mayor during such vacancy or disability, excepting as hereinafter provided. In the case of a vacancy he shall so act until a new mayor is elected and qualified. It shall not be lawful for the commissioner of public works when acting as mayor in consequence of the disability of the mayor to exercise any power of removal whatever, or to exercise any power of appointment unless such disability shall have continued thirty days, or to approve or disapprove any ordinance or resolution until within twenty-four hours of the time when it would take effect as provided in section nineteen without the mayor's approval.

SEC. 33. The qualified voters of the said city at the first municipal election held under the provisions of this act shall elect by ballot, in the same manner as is provided in section eleven of this act for the election of councilmen at large, six persons to be members of the school committee, two to serve for three years, two for two years, and two for one year, unless sooner removed, and until their successors are elected and qualified; and thereafter the said voters shall annually at the municipal election choose by ballot in the same manner two persons to serve on said school committee for the term of three years from said date, and until their successors are elected and qualified. The persons so elected shall constitute the school committee, and shall exercise the powers and be subject to the duties and liabilities given to or imposed upon school committees by the laws of this Commonwealth, or which may be given to or imposed upon them by ordinance of the council not inconsistent with this act.

Any member of the school committee may be removed by the council by vote of two-thirds of all the members thereof voting by roll call.

In case of a vacancy in the school committee it shall be filled by vote of a majority of the remaining members thereof, but any member so chosen shall hold office only during the remainder of the municipal year and until his successor is elected and qualified. The school committee shall have no authority to spend any money or incur any indebtedness in excess of its appropriations.

Said school committee shall at its first meeting in each municipal year, or as soon thereafter as may be, choose a chairman from among its members. Such choice shall be made by ballot, and no person shall be chosen unless he receive the votes of a majority of the members of the board. Such chairman shall serve, unless sooner removed, until the first Monday of April next ensuing and until his successor is chosen and qualified, but the school committee may at any time by vote of a majority of its members remove such chairman and elect another in his place.

SEC. 34. The said school committee as soon as may be after said first Monday in April shall choose, but not from its own members, and by vote of a majority thereof, a superintendent of schools, who shall be under its direction and control and shall be ex officio its secretary; such superintendent shall hold office until the first Monday in April next ensuing, unless sooner removed, and until his successor is chosen and qualified, and he may be removed at any time by said school committee by vote of a majority of its members.

TITLE IV.

ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICERS.

SEC. 35. There shall be the following municipal officers, who shall perform the duties herein prescribed for them respectively, and such further duties not inconsistent with the nature of their respective offices as the council may prescribe.

1. A commissioner of public works, who shall have cognizance and control:

a. Of the performance of any contract entered into by the city with any water company, of the observance by such water company of all the laws of the Commonwealth and ordinances of the city, and of all structures, pipes and other property connected with the supply and distribution of water that may at any time be owned or leased by the city.

b. Of opening, constructing, repairing, altering, regulating, grading, paving, flagging, curbing, guttering and lighting streets, roads, ways and sidewalks.

c. Of the construction, alteration, repair and care of public buildings; provided, however, that the care of all school buildings shall remain under the control of the school committee, and the care of the Thomas Crane Public Library under the control of the board of trustees thereof.

d. Of the construction, alteration, repair and care of public sewers and drains.

e. Of digging and constructing wells.

f. Of the erection and maintenance of public bridges.

g. Of keeping streets, roads and sidewalks clear of snow and other obstructions, of filling holes and other excavations therein, of placing and maintaining lights and barriers at dangerous places thereon, and of replacing and relaying, or requiring the proper persons to replace and relay, pavements or fences removed for any cause.

h. Of all work in or upon public burial places, under the general direction and control of the board of managers thereof, as hereinafter provided.

i. He shall further exercise the powers and be subject to the duties now exercised by or imposed upon road commissioners or street commissioners by the laws of this Commonwealth.

II. A city treasurer, who shall have charge and control of the financial affairs of the city and shall receive and pay out all moneys, and cause an accurate account of the same to be kept in proper book-keeping form, or in such form as the council may prescribe. He shall be under such reasonable bonds as the council may direct. On or before the fifth day of February in each year he shall make to the council a full and detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures of the city during the year ending on the last day of the month of January immediately preceding, and of the cash balance or surplus; and in every such statement the different sources of the city revenue and the amount received from each, the several appropriations made, the objects for which the same were made, and the amount of moneys expended under each, the moneys borrowed on the credit of the corporation, and the authority under which each loan was made, and the terms on which the same was obtained, shall be clearly and particularly specified.

III. A city clerk, who shall have charge of all the papers and documents of the city, countersign all licenses granted by the mayor, and perform the duties required by law of the clerks of the several cities of this Commonwealth.

IV. A collector of taxes, who shall exercise the powers and be subject to the duties prescribed for such officer by the laws of the Commonwealth.

V. A city solicitor, who shall have charge and control of the legal business of the city. He shall attend to such matters as may be referred to him by the mayor and shall represent the city in all cases in court to which it is party. He shall also act as corporation counsel when called upon by the council, the mayor, or any municipal officer established by this act for an opinion on a point of law.

VI. A superintendent of police, when a police department is established in accordance with the provisions of this act, who shall exercise the powers and be subject to the duties commonly exercised by and imposed upon the heads of police departments in other cities in this Commonwealth.

VII. A superintendent of the fire department, who shall exercise the powers and be subject to the duties prescribed by the laws of the Commonwealth or by the regulations provided for in section twenty-five of this act. He shall designate such persons as he may see fit to act as firewards.

VIII. An overseer of the poor, who shall exercise the powers and be subject to the duties prescribed for boards of overseers of the poor by the laws of the Commonwealth. He shall have power to appoint such visitors of the poor as he may see fit to assist him in the discharge of the duties of his office.

IX. A principal assessor and as many assistant assessors as there are wards in the city; they shall together constitute the board of assessors, of which the principal assessor shall ex officio be chairman. One assistant assessor shall be assigned by the board to each ward of the city and shall assess the persons and property of the residents thereof. Any person who feels himself aggrieved by the assessment upon any of his property may appeal from such assessment to the board of assessors, and upon the hearing of such appeal the assessor who has assessed such property shall not sit. The council may by vote of two-thirds of all its members authorize the appointment of second assistant assessors, who shall be appointed by the principal assessor; they shall be equally apportioned among the wards of the city, shall respectively be residents of the wards to which they are assigned and shall assist in assessing only the persons and property therein.

X. A board of park commissioners consisting of three persons, who shall have general cognizance and control of laying out and caring for the public parks of the city and of all work in or upon the same; provided, however, that the commissioner of public works shall be the executive officer of said board and shall perform all such work as it may order, under its general control, and employ or contract for all labor necessary therefor.

XI. A board of health, consisting of five persons; in case the council shall at any time provide for the payment of the members of said board, it shall reduce the number thereof to three.

XII. A board of license commissioners, when occasion arises for constituting such a board on account of a vote of the qualified voters of said city in accordance with law authorizing the granting of licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors. Such board shall consist of the following officers ex officio: the mayor, who shall be the chairman of the board, the city treasurer, and the superintendent of police, or in case the office of superintendent of police shall not then have been established, the city clerk.

XIII. A board of trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library, consisting of six persons.

XIV. A board of managers of the Adams Academy, consisting of six persons.

XV. A board of managers of public burial places, consisting of six persons, who shall have general cognizance and control of laying out and caring for public burial places and of all work in or upon the same; provided, however, that the commissioner of public works shall be the executive officer of said board and shall perform all such work as it may order, under its general control, and employ or contract for all labor necessary therefor.

The above named officers and boards shall exercise all the powers and be subject to all the duties prescribed for them by the laws of the Commonwealth, and until otherwise voted by the council shall continue to exercise all the powers and be subject to all the duties now exercised by or imposed upon the same or similar officers or boards, if any, in the town of Quincy. They shall be appointed by the mayor during the month of April in each year and shall hold their respective offices for one year from the first Monday in May next ensuing and until their respective successors, or in the case of boards a majority of them, are appointed and qualified. They shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 36. Each of the above named boards shall at its first meeting after the first Monday of May in each year, or as soon thereafter as may be, choose by ballot a chairman from among its members, unless otherwise above provided. No person shall be chosen chairman unless he receive the votes of a majority of the members of the board, and he may be removed by the same vote.

Each of said boards shall, unless it has a clerk as hereinafter provided, choose a secretary from among its members, in the same manner as above prescribed for the choice of a chairman, and may remove him in the same manner.

The council may authorize any of said boards to choose a clerk in the manner above prescribed for the choice of a chairman and secretary, and may provide for the payment of such clerk.

Such chairmen, secretaries or clerks shall hold office during the terms of their respective boards, unless sooner removed, and until their respective successors are chosen and qualified.

SEC. 37. The auditor of accounts shall on the first business day of every month audit all accounts in which the city is concerned as debtor or creditor and shall report to the council as it shall direct. He shall have access at all times during business hours to all the books and vouchers of the city treasurer.

SEC. 38. The comptroller, in case such office shall at any time be established by vote of the council as above provided, shall perform such of the customary duties and have such of the customary powers of such officer as may be prescribed by the council. The offices of auditor of accounts and of comptroller may be held by the same person.

SEC. 39. The mayor, the chairman of the school committee, the superintendent of schools, all of the officers above named other than the members of boards, and the chairmen of the above named boards, shall ex officio be entitled to seats with the council, and shall represent their respective offices, committees, departments and boards at the meetings thereof.

It shall be their duty to attend all such meetings unless excused by the council. They shall have the right to speak upon all matters relating to their respective offices, committees, departments and boards, but upon no other matters, and without the right to vote. They shall be notified in like manner with the councilmen of all the regular, special and adjourned meetings of the council. They shall respectively act as such representatives as aforesaid during their occupancy of their respective offices or chairmanships. In case the chairman of a board is unable to be present at any meeting of the council, he may designate another member of the board to represent it at such meeting.

SEC. 40. All of the officers and boards above named shall have power, except as otherwise above provided, to appoint or employ and remove all officers, clerks, employees and subordinates in their respective departments. Such appointments shall not be for any specified term, but shall hold good until removal. Removals shall take effect from the time of the entry of the order of removal, which shall state the grounds therefor, upon the records of the office or board, and the filing of a copy thereof with the city clerk in a book provided for that purpose, and open to public inspection; provided, however, that any person not holding regular office or position established by the council may be removed without such entry of an order of removal or filing of a copy thereof.

Such officers and boards shall in their respective departments make all necessary contracts for work, for the supply of materials for the city, and for the construction, alteration, repair and care of all public works, institutions, buildings and other property; and shall have, subject to the mayor, the direction and control of all the executive and administrative business of the city. They shall be at all times accountable to the mayor as the chief executive officer for the proper discharge of their duties.

SEC. 41. Every board and every officer above named not a member of a board shall keep a record of all its or his official transactions, and such record shall be open to public inspection.

SEC. 42. The mayor, council and heads of departments may require any of the officers whom they respectively appoint to give bonds for the faithful discharge of their duties, with such security as they shall deem reasonable; upon which bonds legal proceedings and remedies may be had as are provided by law in the case of constables' bonds taken by selectmen of towns.

SEC. 43. Any municipal officer shall become and be vacant upon the incumbent thereof ceasing to reside in the City of Quincy, but not merely upon his changing his place of residence from one ward to another in said city.

SEC. 44. The administrative boards and officers herein named, and such other boards and officers as may be established in said city, shall enforce and execute such ordinances and orders of the council as appertain to their respective boards or offices.

TITLE V.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 45. Every person elected or appointed to any municipal office established under the provisions of this act shall, within five days after notice of such election or appointment, except as herein otherwise provided, take and subscribe, before the mayor or city clerk or a justice of the peace, an oath or affirmation faithfully to perform the duties of his office; which oath or affirmation, or a certified copy thereof, shall be filed in the office of the city clerk. Every such person shall receive a certificate of his appointment or election, designating the term for which he has been appointed or elected.

SEC. 46. Every municipal officer shall, unless sooner removed, continue after the expiration of his term of service to hold his office until his successor is appointed or elected and duly qualified.

SEC. 47. The conviction of any officer of the city government of any crime shall operate to create a vacancy in the office held by the person so convicted.

SEC. 48. The limit of indebtedness of the said city shall be one per cent. of the average of the assessors' valuations of the taxable property therein for the preceding three years, the valuation for each year being first reduced by the amount of all abatements allowed thereon previous to the thirty-first day of December in the year preceding said assessment. In ascertaining the amount of said indebtedness debts created for supplying the inhabitants with water shall be omitted and the amount of the sinking funds shall be deducted.

No expenditure of public money shall be made nor liability incurred by the city upon any contract entered into by any municipal officer or board, for any purpose, beyond the amount duly appropriated therefor by ordinance or resolution of the council.

SEC. 49. All of the municipal officers and boards above named shall annually, on or before the first day of June, furnish to the mayor an itemized and detailed estimate of the moneys required for their respective departments or offices during the ensuing financial year. The mayor and city treasurer shall examine such estimates, and shall submit the same to the council during the first week in June in each year, with their itemized and detailed recommendations thereon. No gross appropriation of money, and no item thereof, in excess of the recommendations of the mayor and city treasurer, shall be passed by the council unless by vote of two-thirds of those present and voting, and in no case by less than a majority of all the members of the council.

SEC. 50. Every officer of the city shall at the request of the council appear before it, and every officer so appearing, or having, as provided in section thirty-nine of this act, a seat with the board, must give such information as may be required, and answer such questions as may be asked in relation to any matter, act or thing connected with his office or the discharge of the duties thereof.

SEC. 51. The term of every municipal officer shall be one year, unless otherwise provided in this act.

SEC. 52. No resolution or ordinance increasing or diminishing the regular salary or remuneration of any municipal officer established by this act shall take effect until the municipal year next succeeding that in which such resolution or ordinance is passed.

SEC. 53. No sum appropriated for a specific purpose shall be expended for any other purpose except by vote of two-thirds of all the members of the council; and no expenditure shall be made, nor liability incurred, by or in behalf of the city, until an appropriation has been duly voted by the council sufficient to meet such expenditure or liability, together with all prior unpaid liabilities which are payable out of the appropriations; provided, however, that until the passage of the annual appropriations liabilities payable out of a regular appropriation to be contained therein may be incurred to an amount not exceeding one-third of the total of such appropriation for the preceding year.

SEC. 54. No bonds, notes or other certificates of indebtedness for money borrowed, except in anticipation of the payment of taxes and payable therefrom in not exceeding six months, shall be issued by the said city unless of each issue of such obligations a number there equal to the total number divided by the greatest number of years which any of them have to run shall be payable at the end of each year from the date of issue; and no such obligation shall run for a longer period than ten years.

SEC. 55. No municipal officer, whether elected, appointed or chosen, and no person employed in any capacity by the city, shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract or agreement to which the city is a party, but shall be disqualified and incapacitated by the fact of such interest from taking any official action in the premises, nor shall any such officer or employee furnish supplies of any kind to the city, or be interested directly or indirectly in the furnishing thereof.

SEC. 56. The passage of this act shall not affect any right, accruing or accrued, or any suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding pending at the time when it shall go into operation, and no penalty or forfeiture previously incurred shall be affected thereby. All persons holding office in said town at the time this act shall take effect shall continue to hold the same, notwithstanding the passage hereof, until the organization of the city government hereby authorized shall be effected, and until the successors of such officers shall be respectively elected, chosen or appointed, and qualified.

SEC. 57. This act shall be void unless the inhabitants of said town, at a legal town meeting called for that purpose and held within two years from the passage of this act, shall, by a majority of the voters present and voting thereon as hereinafter provided, adopt the same. At such meeting the votes shall be taken by written or printed ballots, and the polls shall be kept open not less than eight hours. The selectmen shall preside in said meeting, and in receiving said ballots shall use the check list in the same manner as it is used in the election of state officers. If at any meeting called for the purpose this act shall fail to be accepted by a majority of the legal voters of said town, present and voting thereon, the act shall not be again submitted for acceptance within three months of the date of such prior meeting.

SEC. 58. For the purpose of organizing the government hereby authorized, and of putting the same in operation, the selectmen of said town shall, as soon as may be after the acceptance of this act as herein provided, divide said town into six wards, so that they shall contain, as nearly as may be consistent with well defined limits to each ward, an equal number of voters, and shall designate said wards by numbers; they shall at least ten days previous to the first Monday in March next after the acceptance of this act appoint a ward clerk for each of the several wards in said city, who shall be a legal voter in said ward, and who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, and shall perform all the duties of ward or precinct clerk according to law until his successor is elected and qualified; said selectmen shall also issue their warrants ten days at least previous to said first Monday in March calling meetings of the citizens of each ward on that day, at such place and hour as they may deem expedient, for the purpose of choosing a warden and inspectors for each ward, and the municipal officers whose election is provided for in the preceding sections of this act; and the transcripts of the records in each ward, specifying the votes given for the several officers aforesaid, certified by the warden and clerk of the ward at said meeting, shall be returned to the selectmen, whose duty it shall be to examine and compare the same; and in case such elections shall not be completed at such first meetings then the selectmen shall issue new warrants until such elections shall be completed, and shall give notice thereof, in the manner before provided, to the several persons elected. At said meetings a list of voters in each ward, prepared and corrected by the selectmen for the time being, shall be delivered to the clerk of each ward, to be used as hereinafter provided. After the choice of the mayor and councilmen or a majority of the councilmen as aforesaid, the selectmen shall appoint a place for the first meeting of the mayor and council, and shall, by written notices left at the places of residence of the mayor and of each member of the council, twenty-four hours at least before such meeting, notify them thereof. It shall be the duty of the mayor and council, immediately after their first organization to carry into effect the several provisions of this act.

SEC. 59. Chapter one hundred and sixty-two of the Acts of the year eighteen hundred and eighty-three is hereby amended and re-enacted as amended by striking out the eleventh section of said act and by striking out the word "town" wherever the same occurs in said act and inserting in the place thereof the word "city," and the City of Quincy is given all the rights and privileges and shall be subject to all the liabilities therein prescribed for the town of Quincy with relation to or concerning the "Quincy Water Company."

SEC. 60. All the authority granted to the City of Quincy hereby and not otherwise specially provided for in relation to the care and maintenance of the property of the said Quincy Water Company and by the aforesaid act vested in a board of water commissioners shall be vested in the said city, to be exercised by the commissioner of public works, subject to the ordinances and regulations of the council.

SEC. 61. So much of chapter seventy of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and eighty-two as is inconsistent with this act is hereby repealed, and the City of Quincy is hereby given all the rights and privileges and made subject to all the liabilities therein given to or imposed upon the town of Quincy with relation to laying out and maintaining a public park.

SEC. 62. Nothing herein contained shall affect the enforcement of the provisions of chapter three hundred and twenty of the acts of the year eighteen hundred and eighty-four, being "an act to improve the civil service of the Commonwealth and the cities thereof," or of the rules made by the commissioners appointed thereunder.

SEC. 63. This act shall not take full effect unless accepted by the legal voters of the town of Quincy in the manner and form herein prescribed, but so much of this act as authorizes and directs the submission of its acceptance to the legal voters of the said town shall take effect upon its passage.

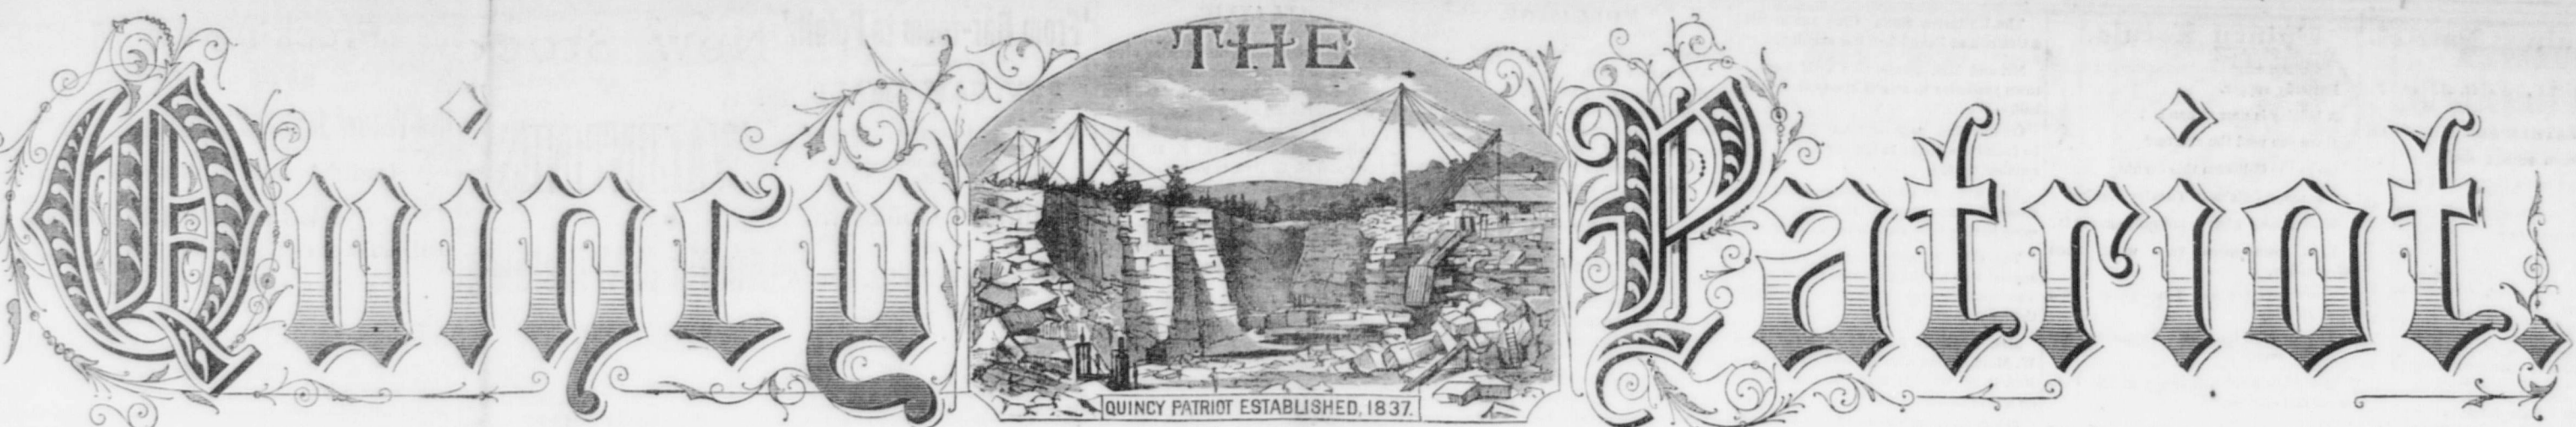

SEC. 64. This act shall not take full effect unless accepted by the legal voters of the town of Quincy in the manner and form herein prescribed, but so much of this act as authorizes and directs the submission of its acceptance to the legal voters of the said town shall take effect upon its passage.

SEC. 65. This act shall not take full effect unless accepted by the legal voters of the town of Quincy in the manner and form herein prescribed, but so much of this act as authorizes and directs the submission of its acceptance to the legal voters of the said town shall take effect upon its passage.

SEC. 66. This act shall not take full effect unless accepted by the legal voters of the town of Quincy in the manner and form herein prescribed, but so much of this act as authorizes and directs the submission of its acceptance to the legal voters of the said town shall take effect upon its passage.

SEC. 67. This act shall not take full effect unless accepted by the legal voters of the town of Quincy in the manner and form herein prescribed, but so much of this act as authorizes and directs the submission of its acceptance to the legal voters of the said town shall take effect upon its passage.

Shut the Door.

Don't let the door stand open, but shut it with much care.

Without a bang, without a whang; yes, shut

it fair and square;

Without a slam, without a jam, without a clash or jerk.

For if you've left it open, go shut it, and

don't shut it.

No Christian man or woman, no well-trained clerk or child.

Will let a door swing idle, to make weak nerves run wild.

When chilly winds are blowing, and some one taking cold,

While the open door is creaking and muttering like a scold.

Haste makes bad waste, remember, so plenty

take of time;

Don't leave the door half open—a faint all

most a crime—

And if you've ever done this, don't do it any more.

Whatever else you fail to do, don't fail to Shut the Door—Good Housekeeping.

Legend of the Wedding House.

There is a certain town in Connecticut

a small and pretty house which perpetually closed, and which is never opened with a bill bearing the words "for sale," or "to let."

The owner of the house lives in Europe.

It is said, and will never return to America.

Within the doors the rooms are all set in order and filled with costly furniture, fresh and new.

In the handsome best bed room of the house stands a Saratoga trunk

full of ladies' clothing, while across a chair

hangs a beautiful bride's travelling dress of gray silk, and next to it on the table

are laid gloves and veil to match. An old woman goes into the house once a week, sweeps, dusts, and rearranges it exactly in the same manner, then closes and refastes

the doors and windows.

The townspeople have grown used to the house and its mystery, but strangers who make inquiries concerning it are sure to find out the legend of the wedding house.

"I had my black silk, and my new bonnet,

and I went to church, and I kinder succumbed until the bride walked down

the aisle with her husband's arm.

"Then I was to myself, and I was delicious, and why should I have set myself against her being happy once again? The Captain up in heaven don't I guess."

"Over at the new house, where the carriage drove, Mr. Pellham had the wedding feast ready. People were eating, and drinking wine. The big trunk was packed, and the traveling dress was ready to put on.

"Miss Pettie I couldn't think of her as

Mr. Pellham came up the garden walk.

"Mr. Pellham stopped at the door.

"Welcome home, dear," he said, and held out his hand; and his new wife put hers into it. Then I standing out amongst the trees all in bloom along the garden path, I saw her face, and she was so

full of love, and I was so full of love,

and I was so full of love, and I was so

full of love, and I was so full of love,

and I was so full of love, and I was so

full of love, and I was so full of love,

The Woman Suffrage League.

An interesting meeting of the Woman Suffrage League was held on Monday evening last, the subject for discussion being "woman's relation to the law," and a very interesting and able paper contributed by Judge Bumpus, was read; after the reading there was a general discussion of the points raised in the paper, and on topics suggested by remarks of the various speakers. Mr. H. M. Sylvester made some extended remarks on the subject of woman's right to vote, as conferred upon her by the 14th and 15th amendments to the United States Constitution. Mr. Sylvester quoted largely from a very recent article in the December Forum, and contended with a good deal of force that the 14th amendment defining citizenship, and the 15th amendment prohibiting the denial of suffrage to citizens, conclusively established woman's right to vote. Remarks were also made by Mrs. Keith, Mrs. Spear, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton, and by Mr. Charles H. Porter.

Before adjournment the following vote of thanks was passed: "Resolved, that the thanks of this League be extended to Mr. Josiah Quincy, for his introduction in the legislature of the order relative to the appointment of matrons in the police station in the cities of the Commonwealth, and for his introduction of other orders in reference to the protection of the rights of women. The next meeting of the League will be held on the last Monday in February. It may be well to state that the meetings of the League are open to all persons interested in the subjects discussed."

Town Meeting Wants.

One of our citizens suggests the following "waxes" that should come before the annual town meeting in March: The town to pay a proportional part of the cost of concrete, brick and plank sidewalks, and edgewise. An additional horse carriage to be located in the Centre of the town, book and ladder to be located in the same building. An appropriation for a vote to number the houses on every street. A change to a continuous Board of Assessors, but electing one for three years, one for two, and one for one; and thereafter electing one each year for three years. The establishment of an evening police patrol. A larger appropriation for street lights, and a more systematic manner for lighting all streets. Some action looking toward the establishment of sewerage and drainage system. Large appropriation for streets, and the Board Commissioners continued in office. More hydrants, more fire alarm boxes, and automatic whistles at Wollaston and West Quincy. The fulfillment of the conditions required to secure Faxon Park for free use of the town. The enlargement of the Mt. Wollaston Cemetery. A vote to enlarge the Hancock street, Canal street, and Washington street culverts over Town brook. The widening and straightening of Common and Canal streets.

An Increase Wanted.

Petitions have been introduced in the Legislature this week, one by Senator Morse, of the Justice and Clerk of the District Court of East Norfolk, for an increase of salary; the other by Representative Smith of Dover, of the Judge of Probate of Norfolk County for an increase of salary. It seems to be a concerted movement throughout the State. The Legislature of 1886 passed bills fixing salaries as follows: Justices of first district court of Eastern Middlesex, $1,400; of second district of Eastern Middlesex, $1,500. Judge Humphrey of the district court of East Norfolk receives $1,200. The clerk of the first district court of Southern Middlesex was voted $800; of the district court of Middlesex, $800; of the district court of Hampshire, $1,000; of the first district court of Eastern Middlesex, $1,200; of the third district of Eastern Middlesex, $1,400. A. White Belcher, clerk of the East Norfolk Court receives now $600. The Judge of Probate of Plymouth County was voted $2,000; of Hampden, $2,500; of Middlesex, $3,000. Judge White of Norfolk County receives but $2,000.

NEW BRIDGE. Representative Quincy has introduced into the Legislature, since our last issue, an order to the Board of Commissioners of property, contracts and action of contract between husband and wife. Also, as to legislation similar to the English law of property and workshop act of 1878 or to any provision or provisions thereof, or for securing a full inquiry by a special commission or otherwise, as to the expediency of legislation relating to factories or workshops. Also, as to regulating the calling and holding of caucuses, primary meetings or other bodies for the nomination of candidates for public office. Also, as to granting municipal woman suffrage in any municipality, if a majority of the women desire it, or if a majority of the men voters in it, municipally vote for it.

A MILLIONAIRE. The inventory of the late Charles Francis Adams has been filed, and the total property left by him is appraised at $1,029,000. The real estate consists of the Hotel Boston, the Bijou Theatre and adjacent property, and the Adams Building in Boston, and the home-stead and other property in Quincy, and the personal is mainly composed of railroad stocks and mortgages upon real estate. During his lifetime Mr. Adams made generous provision for each of his children, and if his estate had been allowed to accumulate without distribution it would have amounted to several millions of dollars.

NEW BLOCK. The work on the brick block being built in Hancock street by Messrs. Dargin & Merrill is progressing quite fast considering the bad weather. The stores will probably be ready for occupancy in six or eight weeks. The south end, next to Mr. Wilson's, is to be used by J. F. Merrill; the Centre store by the One Price Clothing Company; and the northern end, next to Robertson's block, by A. G. Dargin. The stores are to be fitted up in good shape, and will be among the most desirable in town.

Mr. Pinkerton of Worcester has introduced an order in the Legislature this week as to further regulating and restraining the sale of liquors by druggists in the cities and towns voting "no" under the present law.

Quincy Locals.

Butterfly supper. A holiday is near at hand. Have you read the charter? Go to the Coliseum this evening. The moon full next Tuesday evening. Who knows what a butterfly supper is? Lent commences two weeks from Wednesday. Town meeting but four weeks from next meeting. The Republican Town Committee met Tuesday evening. Rev. Sam Small will speak at the Coliseum this evening. All the town officers are busy preparing their annual reports. Norfolk County Probate Court in Quincy next Wednesday morning. The Bay State Granite Company is a new firm at South Quincy. The Christ Church Reading Room will be opened Monday evening. Valentines have made their appearance, and the 14th is most here. The Police Association met at the Wollaston Hotel Monday evening. The annual town meeting comes as late in March as possible, — the 7th. Walter M. Packard was this week confirmed as a Justice of the Peace. Home-made candy for sale next Wednesday evening at the Universalist vestry. The fire companies meet next Monday evening, and the Engineers Tuesday. The trustees of the Unitarian Society received the bequests of $20,000 on Monday. Frank C. Packard, one of Quincy's best fishermen, had a fine alarm tupper bin.

Miss L. A. Putnam organist of Christ Church is visiting among friends down east. A checker tournament is soon to be opened by the St. John's C. L. A. Association. Another druggist is to locate in the Centre or South districts. Mr. Willard, now of Wollaston. William Pantoni's currying shop in "the hollow," which was lately damaged by fire is being repaired. Mr. Wollaston Lodge, I. O. O. F., will work the second degree on two candidates at the next meeting. The membership fee for the new reading room at Christ Church Parish House is but twenty-five cents. Rev. Edward Norton will preside at the Rev. Sam Small revival meeting to be held in the Coliseum this evening.

B. N. Adams has sold the estate of the late Samuel Y. Hardwick, on Mechanic street, to Charles H. Hardwick. The Engineers of the Fire Department will ask for an appropriation of $5,300 this year; also for 1,000 feet of hose. The sun rises before seven and sets after five, the mornings having gained twenty minutes and the afternoons fifty-three. Letters of administration were granted at the Probate Court at Dedham Wednesday, on the estate of Elioda Baxter of Quincy. Josiah A. Kendall and E. Frederic Carr have been drawn to serve as jurors at the next session of the Supreme Judicial Court for Norfolk County.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Laura Salmon of Newton and Mr. William G. A. Pattee of Quincy, to take place Wednesday, Feb. 16. People wonder whether the town will elect fourteen or fifteen constables at the annual election. And how the "persistent Henry" will run on a ticket. Mr. John Q. McDonnell and son, from Buffalo, N. Y., arrived here on Tuesday and surprised their relatives and friends. They are all in good health. A fine dramatic entertainment at the Universalist vestry next Wednesday evening; also useful and fancy articles for sale. See notice in another column.

The all-day snow storm of Wednesday brought sledging once more, and those who had predicted that the back bone of winter had broken were disappointed. The Rev. Mr. Cotton officiated last Sunday morning and evening. At the close of morning service an infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Babcock was baptized. South Quincy tax-payers are circulating a petition calling the attention of the Board Commissioners to the condition of Water street near the South Quincy post office.

James McGrath is doing the South thoroughly, having visited Washington, Richmond, Charleston, Columbia, Savannah, Augusta, St. Augustine and other places. There will be an eclipse of the moon early next Tuesday morning, which will be visible in Quincy and vicinity if pleasant. It will begin at 4:14 A. M. and end at 6:30 A. M. The residence of Mr. Henry Barker on Greenleaf street was entered through an unfastened window early last Saturday morning. The burglars obtained but fifteen dollars.

The proposed Quincy charter contains some novel features, as was to be expected, and its workings, if it should be adopted, will be watched with curious interest. — Journal. There will be a large gathering this evening at the Coliseum to listen to the Rev. Sam Small, the able and eloquent evangelist from Georgia. He has filled, the present week, the large halls in Boston with eager listeners. The Selectmen and Auditors paid their annual visit to the Quincy Home on Tuesday, Feb. 1st, and took an account of stock. It is no longer a jockeying party with several invited guests, but purely on town business.

Frank F. Prescott and others have petitioned the Road Commissioners to lay out the private way on the Miller estate between Canal and Elm streets, and name the same Chestnut street, it being a continuation of the present Chestnut street. Persons desiring washing, scrubbing, or occasional housework done may learn of reliable persons, by applying to Miss Alice D. Spear, Secretary of Associated Charities. Also, any one wishing a young girl to do general housework or take care of children. There seems to be a lack of interest in the city movement, even among the charter committee. Had not the Engineers met at the Town House on the same evening the committee of fifteen would have been unable to get a quorum on Friday. Engineer Duggan was the eighth man.

Miss Mollie, youngest daughter of Mrs. William Webb, received a painful wound on her knee joint while coasting on Canal street recently. We are pleased to learn that although quite lame the wound is healing and in a few days she will be around as usual. The Rev. Mr. Cotton and wife left Newport News for the West Indies on Wednesday. He expects to be absent till April 1st. During his absence the Rev. Mr. Duffield will supply the church. The evening service at Christ Church will be omitted until the first Sunday in Lent which will be Feb. 27.

The Unitarian Social Club was to hold a German at Faxon hall last evening. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse F. Curtis were in town yesterday to attend the Old Fellows ball. On the first page of today's paper will be found the births in Quincy during 1886, numbering 440. Next week we shall publish some criticisms on the proposed city charter, the same having been crowded out this week. The Old Fellows were to hold their annual ball at the Coliseum last evening. The weather was much more favorable than last year. Mrs. Lydia L. Follett and Mr. George W. Morton were married on Thursday by Rev. D. M. Wilson, and left immediately on a tour to the South. Friday morning's Journal had a lengthy review of Brooks Adams' work, "The Emancipation of Massachusetts," published by Houghton, Mifflin & Co. Hon. John D. Long has accepted the invitation of Mayor O'Brien to deliver a eulogy on the life of Hon. Charles Adams, our late townsman. The Committee on Election Laws to whom Representative Quincy's bill to secure the secrecy of the ballot was referred, reported inexpedient on Thursday. On the fourth page will be found a copy of a lengthy letter from Judge Bumpus, giving his opinion as to the rights of our druggists to sell intoxicating liquors. The Legislative Committee gave a hearing next Thursday, at 10 A. M., on the petition of W. L. Faxon and others for an act incorporating a street railway company in Quincy. It has been unusually dull in the District Court this week, and it is a noticeable fact that it generally is every Friday, the month before the annual town meetings, the officers playing their cards for recreation. At this time, when Judge Humphrey petitions the Legislature for an increase of salary, it is unfortunate.

Rev. Robert Whitaker, of Shirley village, filled the pulpit at the Baptist Church on Sunday; at the afternoon service he preached an excellent sermon from the subject, "Unconscious Influence," which was much enjoyed by all present. The Ladies' Social Circle continued with the Baptist Church will hold a fair two evenings next week. Thursday and Friday, Feb. 10th and 11th. Full particulars announced by poster. The entertainment and jug breaking, on Tuesday evening by the Ladies' Aid Society, of the Congregational Church, proved entertaining and successful; both the vestry and the jugs were well filled. The following programme was carried out: Reading—"The Ruler's Daughter," Rev. George Bonfield. Reading—"Says I and Says He," Miss L. T. Harlow. Song—"Banbury Cross," Mrs. Charles Whisley. Reading of the newspaper—"The Alder," Master William F. Chubbuck. Song—"Larboard Watch," Mr. G. A. Stedinger and Mr. C. F. Wisley. Reading—"Aunt Beth's Adventure," Miss K. A. Raycroft. "The Alder" is an entirely new publication, in the interests of the Ladies' Aid Society and with its strong editorial staff cannot fail of success. When once well known it will probably reduce the sale of the Century and Harper's about one-half, and will no doubt compel the PATRIOT to suspend publication.

Mr. Thomas B. Pollard of North Andover, a graduate of the Bridgewater Normal School, is the principal of the Washington School, Mr. Wadsworth going to the Willard. Miss Elizabeth McLean is spending the vacation of the Bridgewater Normal School at her home. Mrs. H. M. Fiedler entertained a progressive euchre party on Friday evening. Master Harry Adams narrowly escaped being run over on Tuesday, as it was he had his ankle badly wrenched and bruised. Captain William Thomas who is engaged in southern coasting is at home for a few days. Mrs. George W. Coon and children of Bay View, are visiting at the Point. Mrs. Mary Lincoln has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. McLaughlin at West Quincy, for the past three weeks. E. M. F.

For the Patriot. Sam Small. The citizens of Quincy will have an opportunity this evening of listening to able and eloquent remarks from one who has but recently been rescued from the saloon pit. Mr. Small knows from a fearful experience all the steps from the social wine cup to the whiskey bottle and the gutter. Those of our citizens who think it safe to license these manufacturers of ruin, who have homes, paupers and criminals, may get from him some hints and suggestions worthy their consideration. We especially hope that all our young whiskey dealers who have to be helped home from the late Saturday evening train out, will identify themselves that disgrace and come out early enough to hear the route they are commencing to travel carefully described. Mr. Small has been over the whole of it, and our doctors and apothecaries can tell too. All are welcome.

OBITUARY. The funeral of Jacob H. Hersey took place Monday afternoon from his late residence on Hancock street and was largely attended. The Weber Quartette of Boston, rendered some music and the Rev. Mr. Wilson conducted the funeral service and uttered many comforting words to the bereaved mourners. The flowers were profuse and elegant. VICINITY NEWS. —The Universalist Church at Medford which had been entirely remodelled was rededicated Tuesday. —John D. Gates of Hingham is dead. —The street department of Boston cost last year $1,700,963.01, of which $90,877.80 was spent in the Dorchester District. Over six miles of excavations were laid, 11,000 feet being in Dorchester. —The residence of William Howard of Randolph, was entered Sunday night and $100 taken. —There is dissatisfaction in Colchester, because nearly all the appropriations were exceeded last year. —The Mayor of Brockton has removed from office the Board of Health for alleged illegal and extravagant expenditures in the construction of a sewer and for other unwise expenditures. —It is proposed to build a new church for the First Parish of Brookline on the site of the present building on Walnut street. The proposed cost is between $40,000 and $50,000. At a meeting Monday evening $5,000 was raised by subscription. —Stoughton organized January 27th, the "Stoughton Soldiers' and Citizens' Monument Association." —In Malden during 1886, 290 buildings were erected. —George H. Morgan, a reporter, has been nominated for postmaster of Newton, vice John G. Latta. —The Stoughton postmaster has been notified to refund to box renters from 12 to 20 per cent. of what was collected from them Jan. 1st.

WOLLASTON.

Ward. The banner ward. But, 'tis too early to crow. Some like and some don't like the city charter, but we think the prevailing opinion is in favor of a city. Rev. Sam Small's temperance lecture at the Coliseum on Saturday evening will be sure to draw a big crowd. 'Twill be a rich treat. Friend Faxon don't do anything by halves. Rev. Record has a good record. A little injustice was done friend Bass in last week's PATRIOT in regard to securing bondsmen, as he had made no effort to secure them. The trouble was imaginary, and not real. Rev. Elijah H. of East Boston, gave the third and last entertainment in the Acolytes' course at the Congregational Church, on Sunday evening. The course has been a successful one. Rev. Mr. Knight delivered a powerful sermon in the M. E. Church last Sunday evening, his subject being "Waiting Places Slowly Filled and Quickly Empty." Next Sunday morning there will be a sermon and communion service; and in the evening the third in the series of sermons will be "The Left Hand." On Friday night of last week burglars attempted to enter several residences by turning the keys, marks on the same being noticeable. C. A. Pinkham's was the only place where they met with success, and they entered through an unfastened window, securing a $100 gold watch, which was presented to Mr. P. last Christmas; also a silver pen and a small sum of money. What a turnover the proposed change of postmaster is making. Postmaster-elect Bass wanted to locate with A. L. Willard, but without success. But S. F. Baker, deciding to move his store to Quincy, W. C. Tucker will take his stand and the postoffice will probably be located in the store now occupied by Mr. Tucker. The methods employed to bring all this about are the talk of the village. Two telephones have been taken out this week, one from the Wollaston depot, and the other from Willard's drug store. The former had been in about three years, and was a great public convenience, but it did not return the proper service as a pay station, and Mr. Willard did not want it out of pocket each month, and had it removed. The East Milton depot, which was a great public convenience, but it did not return the proper service as a pay station, and Mr. Willard did not want it out of pocket each month, and had it removed.

WEST QUINCY.

Needed! More street lights! Better fire protection! And a city government! Mr. Patrick Berry has a pet goose that follows him about like a dog. A hand organ foretold the approach of "Spring, Spring, gentle Spring" on Thursday. Mr. Walter H. Ripley had the misfortune to sprain both of her ankles last week. George M. Wadsworth, late principal of the Washington School at Quincy Point, has been transferred to the Willard School. George Hoff, brakeman on the Granite Branch, has been incapacitated for work this week, by having his foot jammed on a freight car. Mrs. Martha Hall, mother of Mrs. George W. Thayer, observed her 81st birthday on Thursday. Another daughter, Mrs. A. V. Cole of Portland, Me., was present. H. F. Doble and others have petitioned the Road Commissioners to widen and lay out a town way from Centre street to West street. A hearing will be given this afternoon at the Town House. It will be Mission Day at the M. E. Church Sunday, Feb. 7th. Mr. Dorr will deliver an appropriate sermon, and in the evening there will be a missionary concert by the Sunday School. A little daughter of Michael Monahan fell through the ice on the overflooded lands between Great street and Furnace street on Friday last week, and narrowly escaped being drowned. She was rescued by John Barry, who also got into the water. The Old Colony Railroad should put on a few more section men, and not oblige them to work Sunday in doing unnecessary work, they being employed last Sunday in replanking the Willard street crossing. Dr. E. E. Doble of Ipswich, son of E. H. Doble of this village, slipped in that town last week, and fractured a rib. Rev. W. L. Haven, Ph. D., of Newton, lectured in the M. E. Church on Wednesday evening, but to a small audience. His subject "Brains and how to use them," was treated in a very interesting manner. At Badger Brothers' quarry Jan. 28, Dennis Donovan of the Railway was injured by a blast. A fuse had been lighted and it was thought to have gone out. Donovan returned and about as he reached the spot the charge went off. He was not seriously injured, but powder entered his face. At first it was feared he would lose the sight of one eye, but last reports were more favorable. Seldom has the Willard school had a principal who was appreciated and respected as Mr. C. W. H. H. in the closing connection with the school yesterday. In token of their friendship the A. grammar class presented him on Thursday with Shakespeare's works in the "Handy Volume Edition." Another present on the same day was a new teaching of the building and was in the form of a handsome French clock. The kindest wishes go with him to his new field of labor. The Road Commissioners have also been petitioned to widen and lay out as a town way, the extension of Hill place between Cemetery and Willard streets. This of this improvement will continue to increase as Hill place and vicinity continue to gain in population and houses, and there has been a large growth in the neighborhood the last year or two. Necessity demands the granting of the petition, and the sooner the better.

The Universalist Church at Medford which had been entirely remodelled was rededicated Tuesday. —John D. ATLANTIC.

The envelope opening on Tuesday evening proved very interesting and profitable. The entertainment given by the children of speaking and singing. All did themselves credit. Messrs. E. G. Hall, C. Drew and H. L. Hallett were appointed a committee to collect the envelopes and count the contents which they did to the satisfaction of all. The amount realized was something over $120 and goes to help lift the burden of debt, and yet there is room for more donations. Sunday services at the Memorial Congregational Church on Sunday. Morning subject "Christ's Love and Sympathy." Evening subject "The New Song." The course of entertainments at the Memorial Church will commence Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, and continue weekly. To consist of two concerts, one by talent from the New England Conservatory and the other to be announced; lectures by Rev. A. P. Foster, D. D., and Rev. Stewart Shelton, and an entertainment by the Children's Union. Miss Fanny M. Davidson, student agent, goes to Montreal today to visit friends and enjoy the carnival. The Atlantic Village Improvement Society held a lengthy and interesting meeting Monday evening at the residence of Mr. Thomas Hinckley. Mr. Thomas Hinckley, the president, presided. Among other improvements mentioned an extension of the fire service, by adding more hydrants. It was claimed that the middle and easterly end of Atlantic street, were very poorly protected. The completion of Billings street to Squantum street was advocated. It was laid out some years ago by the town but had never been extended. Thomas Hinckley was appointed a committee to see that the matter was again brought before the town at the coming election. A postoffice was advertised for a park, walk or drive by the sea shore in the vicinity of the foot of Atlantic and Appleton streets. An entertainment was talked up, and will take place in a few weeks.

Farm and Garden.
Farming for Profit.
There is one thing true in respect to
farming which tends to curb the ambition
of men. It is a calling of humble profits,
which, as a compensation, are no less certain than they are moderate. The secret of success in this business is not in the general financial affairs. The reader will probably recall with little trouble, the
illustrations of this view, Dyalne of Dakota, Dr. Glen of California, and others.
Farmers are not capable of industrial speculation in stocks, and, therefore, the
man who craves great riches had better abandon all thoughts of an agricultural career.
The great question is, "Does the farmer
live as well, enjoy life as well, rear his family and educate them as well as other laboring men?" For it is best to avoid candidly at the outset that the farmer, in
a vast majority of cases, belongs to the laboring classes, and any young man who
is displeased with this honest avowed
better avoid the plough altogether. No
pretence of philosophical logic, no
amount of agricultural machinery, will ever make anything else out of him but a laboring man.
According to the census of 1880 there
were, in Ohio, in 1879, 397,435 persons
engaged in agriculture, of whom 336,120
were males. The total farm production for that year "sold, consumed or on hand,"
were valued at $156,777,132. This gave the total product for the year's labor for
each farm owner and male person employed
on the farm (for all are classed together in the census), $322.15.
Now, to compare this with the average
yearly earnings of those engaged in manufacturing and mechanical and mining industries. We learn from the same source that this was $348.82, or $48.33 less than
the total yearly product of each member of the farming class. In other words, the farmer has $322.15 a year to support his family on the one hand, and the man engaged in the other trades has $348.82 a
year to support his family on the other.
But, among the articles mentioned as
"sold, consumed or on hand," how many
were actually taken account of under the house system of consumption? Of course
the wheat, wool and pork sold are reported
with approximate correctness. But who supposes that the eggs, butter, milk,
cheese, fruit, honey, vegetables, etc., that
the farmer's family use throughout the year get into the census, and when reckoned
in the $322.15 above given? What farmer
ever thinks of telling the census-taker of
all the chickens he and his family ate throughout the year? They were his, and
he ate them, and when they wanted
any thing killed and ate it, and he wanted
anything more about it. He digs potatoes
out of his garden half the summer long
and never thinks of measuring them, or even estimating them when he gives in his potatoes to the census-taker. So with his poultry, his fruit, his honey, his butter,
his pumpkins, squashes, turnips, onions; so with his barrel of pork and his half-barrel of beef laid down. What farmer keeps account of all these things?
One might safely say that half his family
living in most cases, does not enter into the $322.15 at all. But in the manufacturing employee's $348.82, of which
this is included, because that is his all,
his wages for the year, out of which
everything he needs, and when he wants
to buy a new pair of shoes, he goes to the store, and he pays no gas bill, no water
bills, no high city taxes. The greater part of his yearly $400 (it is almost that) goes,
or may go, for groceries and clothing for
his family, and to pay his taxes, etc.
STEPHEN POWERS.

the wheat, wool and pork sold are reported
with approximate correctness. But who
supposes that the eggs, butter, milk,
cheese, fruit, honey, vegetables, etc., that
the farmer's family use throughout the
year get into the census, and when reckoned
in the $322.15 above given? What farmer
ever thinks of telling the census-taker of
all the chickens he and his family ate
throughout the year? They were his, and
he ate them, and when they wanted
any thing killed and ate it, and he wanted
anything more about it. He digs potatoes
out of his garden half the summer long
and never thinks of measuring them, or
even estimating them when he gives in his potatoes to the census-taker. So with his
poultry, his fruit, his honey, his butter,
his pumpkins, squashes, turnips, onions; so with his barrel of pork and his
half-barrel of beef laid down. What farmer keeps account of all these things?
One might safely say that half his family
living in most cases, does not enter into
the $322.15 at all. But in the manufacturing employee's $348.82, of which
this is included, because that is his all,
his wages for the year, out of which
to buy a new pair of shoes, he goes to
the store, and he pays no gas bill, no water
bills, no high city taxes. The greater part
of his yearly $400 (it is almost that) goes,
or may go, for groceries and clothing for
his family, and to pay his taxes, etc.

Farming for Profit.
There is one thing true in respect to
farming which tends to curb the ambition
of men. It is a calling of humble profits,
which, as a compensation, are no less certain than they are moderate. The secret
of success in this business is not in the general financial affairs. The reader will probably recall with little trouble, the
illustrations of this view, Dyalne of Dakota, Dr. Glen of California, and others.
Farmers are not capable of industrial
speculation in stocks, and, therefore, the
man who craves great riches had better
career.
The great question is, "Does the farmer
live as well, enjoy life as well, rear his
laboring men?" For it is best to avoid
candidly at the outset that the farmer, in
a vast majority of cases, belongs to the
laboring classes, and any young man who
is displeased with this honest avowed
better avoid the plough altogether. No
pretence of philosophical logic, no
amount of agricultural machinery, will
ever make anything else out of him but a
laboring man.
According to the census of 1880 there
were, in Ohio, in 1879, 397,435 persons
engaged in agriculture, of whom 336,120
were males. The total farm production for
that year "sold, consumed or on hand,"
were valued at $156,777,132. This gave
the total product for the year's labor for
each farm owner and male person employed
on the farm (for all are classed together in
the census), $322.15.
Now, to compare this with the average
yearly earnings of those engaged in manufacturing and mechanical and mining industries. We learn from the same source
that this was $348.82, or $48.33 less than
the total yearly product of each member
of the farming class. In other words, the farmer has $322.15 a year to support his family on the one hand, and the man engaged in the other trades has $348.82 a
year to support his family on the other.
But, among the articles mentioned as
"sold, consumed or on hand," how many
were actually taken account of under the
house system of consumption? Of course
with approximate correctness. But who

Poetry. Afterward. I heedlessly opened the cage And suffered my bird to go free: And, though I brought it with tears to return, It never came back to me. It nests in the wildwood and heeds not my call, Oh, the bird once at liberty, who can enthrall? I hastily opened my lips, And uttered a word of disdain, That would a friend and forever estranged A heart I would die to regain. But the bird once at liberty, who can enthrall? And the word that's once spoken, O, who can recall?—The Independent.

Miscellany. Those Deceitful Men. "What's the matter, Huddy?" said Miss Pinkerton, a little impatiently. "Heads! I said she, 'you are particular. But, of course, I have no object in concealing my age.' "Of course not," said the gentleman, patiently scratching his nose with the hair of his pencil. "I think you say you were— "Seven and thirty on my last birthday," answered the lady. "What! Are you going to write it down?" "I always do," said the stranger. "When I ask a question as simple as this, I want to know the exact date." "What?" cried Miss Pinkerton. "Who are you?" "What is your business?" "My name is Jonas Jackson," replied the short, stout individual, "and I am the census man."

The Quincy Water Co. Franchise. To the Editors of the Patriot: It may not be inopportune at this time to call the attention of the Quincy townspeople to the question as to whether it were not wise to make some municipal movement in the direction of acquiring the franchise of the Quincy Water Company. It is a question which has been before the town for many years, but in the interest of the individual residents of Quincy as well. It may not be generally known that the experiment of furnishing water to the Quincy people has already become self-sustaining. The corporation has 700 water-takers, a number equal to the average patronage in other places of like population. From its annual receipts of about $15,000, which is about $22 to each taker, the corporation is able to pay its current and construction expenses, also the interest on its bonded indebtedness, with the promise to its limited number of stockholders of a dividend in the near future. The corporation is most favorably conditioned. It can sell or hold its franchise. If it sells, the stockholders are well paid for their experiment; if retained in the hands of its present holders, it will not be a loss but to their ultimate gain. Not a share of stock need be bought or sold at a premium already being demanded, and with the payment of a dividend the stock will have all the advantages of a solid stock that may be safely recommended to investors. It may not be out of place right here to make a statement of fact which should strengthen the public impression, already growing, that the town of Quincy should own the right of water supply to the public, and to the corporate self. This new enterprise, that in its inception was met with doubt and questioning, has with the outlay of over $250,000 as per its construction account laid some twenty-six miles of pipe, which might be further added to with beneficial result to the townspeople and the corporation as well. The base of the water supply is located in Quincy and is the property of the corporation, nor can any of Boston's suburban towns or cities claim a superior right to water than that which flows from the stand-pipe on Penn's Hill. The corporation is regularly chartered for the magnificent prospect ahead for Quincy of increasing population, and triumph over all municipal improvements, the charter must come in for a share in the estimated value of this plant. Of the amount of the capitalized stock, $250,000, $125,000 has been issued to stockholders, the balance of $125,000 is held in reserve as a bonded indebtedness which has sixteen years to run, but which may be redeemed in whole or in part after Sept. 1st, 1888, at the option of the stockholders. In its present developed state the plant is a valuable and a safe investment on the part of the town and which with but slight additional tax could be made to serve individual and public needs freely and without stint. It is not too much to say that Quincy is in the near future to be elevated to the fair sisterhood of cities in the Commonwealth, nor is it unreasonable to suppose that she will do herself no credit as a city as a town, and in any other respect. It is imperative that she should be the dispenser of all those benefits that might come within the boundary line of municipal privileges. The fact that the purchase of this franchise by the town would put into the pockets of the projectors of this enterprise should not enter into the discussion at all. It has no place here or there. That a few far-sighted, and I might well say, public-spirited men caught the sound of a crying need and answered it, should inspire a sense of gratitude rather than envy or unreasoning antagonism in the hearts of those who are realizing a great benefit at the hands of a successful enterprise which is even yet in its infancy. The town should be the guardian of the health, comfort and safety alike of its citizens and it is for the reasons which grow out of that proposition that Quincy should acquire the right to supply its citizens with water, and by the way, of a character of a public necessity, and should hold such rights within its municipal control entirely. If the present article shall have stimulated thought and discussion upon this subject, its work will in part be accomplished. SYLVES.

Liquor Licenses. The following is an abstract from the inaugural address of Mayor Fosdick of Fitchburg, relating to liquor licenses in that city: For a second year have the voters of our city decided upon "No License," according to the terms of the statute. This allows no discretion to the Board of Aldermen as to the first five classes of liquor licenses, but permits them to grant sixth class licenses to druggists to sell alcoholic liquors for medicinal, chemical and mechanical purposes only. Upon taking this office year ago I was opposed to granting sixth class licenses, but a careful study of the matter for the four months previous to the first of May, taking into account the rightful demand of many that they should have the opportunity to get liquors for medicines, which could be given in no other way than through a druggist's license, and other strong reasons which I need not mention here, changed my views and I advised granting all druggists the same right, making no invalid distinction by granting to one or two only, thus giving them a preference with customers for other medicines located in the same place. It could also be obtained, and giving all an equal opportunity of showing themselves worthy. While I am still satisfied that for the last year this course was the wisest to pursue, and that no more liquor has been illegally sold than would have been if no such licenses had been granted, I am equally satisfied that many of those to whom the licenses were granted have paid little or heed to the restrictions of the law, but in addition to selling for medicinal, medicinal and chemical purposes, have sold, illegally all they dared without too much risk of detection. A large amount, however, of the licenses has been hard to get. This being the result, I shall advise granting to more than two druggists a license to sell, and those to whom we believe to be trustworthy. It is, perhaps, needless to say that a special license will be kept over those who have good reason to believe that they will use the law, willingly or unwittingly, the past year. The good effects of prohibition, enforced by the law, are not to be seen in the first eight months of trial, are too manifest to call for comment here, and intelligent voters were not so slow to see the wisdom of the rumormongers to explain them this year. The earnest attempt will be made this year to have the law enforced, and no favor to, or in favor of, any.

A Ramble About, No. 34. LUCRECE. This is one of the delightful old towns of New England, and gives me so much pleasure to visit, in this land of night, mountains and lovely lakes. Lucerne is the capital of a canton of the same musical name. It is right in the center of Switzerland. This is a small canton, but it has only 4,000 square miles, with a population of 123,000. The people are hardy, honest, industrious and patriotic. They think their Republic, of which they form an important part, ahead of all other countries. They say to themselves and out loud too, our country is small but oh how good. They prize quality more than quantity. The level parts are fertile and fine grain, and fruits are raised in great quantities. In the hilly portions, to name it all for the hills are so high, they cannot do much in the line of farming, and so they raise cattle, who thrive by climbing up the steep declivities and then creeping slowly down, often with the most beautiful view of the lake and the mountains. One of the steepest peaks of the Alpine range rises up in this region 7,000 feet. I wanted to go to the summit and see the sun rise, but I confess the task was too much for me, and I had to give up. I heard an old lady say, is not easy, so I said down and looked up. The principal river is the Reuss, which flows from the north west extremity of Lake Lucerne. This lake of Lucerne is the most beautiful of all the lakes on the globe, with the exception only of every other lake just as beautiful; but where is it? There lies like a sparkling diamond—abundant in shape and set among rocks and supplies and black and white peaks. The lake is so pure, and so clear, as to be like a mirror, and on its surface, as you walk on its banks, it seems like a placid sea on the borders of fairy land. As you glance up at the towering hills, you imagine you see the heads of giants peering out with smiling eyes from behind those vast granite columns. In the middle of the river near the lake rises an old tower, solid and well preserved, which attracts your attention as you enter the town. It was for the purpose of being a light house—Lucerne in Latin, and the name of the town comes from this fact. The arsenal here is one of the most important in all Switzerland, and here are to be seen many old weapons of war used in the ancient battle of Sempach. There is a large business done here in the manufacture of silks, cottons and gloves.

I stopped at the hotel of the White House—with a picture on the sign of a snowy mountain, and life if not true as natural. This house has been kept as a hotel continuously for upwards of 200 years. I walked over two bridges spanning the river here which are arched over and on the lower roof are pictures painted of scenes of battle, and triumph over the English, and beggars, and good angels flying about for pleasure, and devils too, with cloven feet and cross faces, animals, and birds, and something less than a million of other things. When such contingencies as the Boston fire arise they are outside of ordinary business precaution. Then he read statistics from the largest companies of the state and one small one—the Cambridge, Citrus', Dorchester, Fitchburg, Hingham, Holyoke, Methuen, and Farmers' of Worcester, Middlebury, Quincy, Merrimack, and Mechanics' of Lowell, Norfolk and Worcester Mutual, for the period 1876 to 1885 inclusive, each of which, in its last year, had taken $100,000 in money enough from its cash premiums alone, regardless of other income, to pay all its losses and expenses and leave a margin. In most cases they took in $2 or $3 for every $1 paid out. Hence he argued that it was unjust to ask for a reserve, for it was money taken from people now merely to give it as plunder in the future to somebody who had no rightful claim to it.

ORIGINAL NAMES. There is a family in Polk County whose children possess names that are, to say the least, rather original. They answer to the following questions: Mollie Necklake, Quincy Ann, St. Tommie, Happy Josie, Nestor Chester and I Wonder. It is said that the happy mother takes pride in calling each child by its full name. —Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer-Sun.

ANNALS OF QUINCY—1873. ELEVEN NEW TOWN WERE ACCEPTED, SEVEN AT WOLLASTON. Antiques and Horribles on the Fourth—Small poor ragged—Other Items.

Jan. 16. The Baptist Church at Wollaston was dedicated. In February the small poor prevailed to a great extent; many cases proved fatal. Feb. 26. Mr. Gridley Totman killed a large gray eagle in Quincy's woods. It decorated the hall of H. O. No. 1. For a few years and is at present the property of G. B. Totman.

March 3. The town adopted a new code of By Laws relating to truants. Hon. Nathaniel P. Stafford donated the town hall for a school house at Wollaston. Seven avengers at Wollaston were accepted by the town, viz: Warren and Lincoln each 143 feet long and 60 wide. The remaining five were Central, 3,500 ft; Highland, 1,800; Prospect, 1,800; Wollaston, 1,100; and Grand View, 1,112 feet long; and each 50 feet wide. In 1884, the latter was extended to the junction of Newport avenue and Beale street, a distance of 1,000 ft, but only 40 feet wide. Also, Bates avenue at West Quincy, 780 feet long and 30 wide.

May 17. The second number of the Quincy Directory appeared. May 30. Decoration day, celebrated by Post 88, G. A. R., in the evening. The day was escorted by the Weymouth Brass Band. Dr. William R. Dimmock delivered the oration. June 2. Sault street, 262 feet long and 45 wide and Albany, 260 1/2 feet long and 45 wide, accepted by the town. The name of Liberty street changed to Water. By Laws relating to Mt. Wollaston Cemetery were adopted. July 4. Celebrated by an Antique and Horrible procession, followed with an oration by Walter W. Slade, poem by George Randall and songs by Helen Bowditch, Jr., in the morning. A base ball match and regatta in the afternoon and fire works in the evening.

Oct. 24. The Wollaston Iron Foundry first commenced business. Now why ner escorted by the Weymouth Brass Band. Dr. William R. Dimmock delivered the oration. June 2. Sault street, 262 feet long and 45 wide and Albany, 260 1/2 feet long and 45 wide, accepted by the town. The name of Liberty street changed to Water. By Laws relating to Mt. Wollaston Cemetery were adopted. July 4. Celebrated by an Antique and Horrible procession, followed with an oration by Walter W. Slade, poem by George Randall and songs by Helen Bowditch, Jr., in the morning. A base ball match and regatta in the afternoon and fire works in the evening.

July 8. Mr. Allen having been tendered a complimentary supper on the 17th of June, which was attended by many of the county and town officials, professional and business men of the town and suburbs, to the number of 150 or more, closed the Hancock House for business, leaving the old North Precinct of Braintree without a public house in the central village. May 18th, 1862; at which time Martin Sanders was granted a license by the General Court "to draw wine at Braintree." Mr. Sanders' ordinary or tavern occupied the site now the residence of Mr. Steadman Williams, on Elm street.

Oct. 24. The Wollaston Iron Foundry first commenced business. Now why ner escorted by the Weymouth Brass Band. Dr. William R. Dimmock delivered the oration. June 2. Sault street, 262 feet long and 45 wide and Albany, 260 1/2 feet long and 45 wide, accepted by the town. The name of Liberty street changed to Water. By Laws relating to Mt. Nov. 23. The three-deck ship "Madoe," 2,245 tons, was launched from the yard of Dea. George Thompson; it was shortly after sold for about $140,000. Nov. 24. Hancock Court, 318 1/2 feet long and 32 wide, accepted. Nov. 28. Ward's guns first tested at Nut Island (a smooth bore and a rifle, both 15 inch bore and weighing 46,000 pounds), at the distance of 140 yards, a weight of iron target 15 inches thick and weighing 3,000 pounds, embedded in and backed by 100 tons of frozen beach gravel. The rifle, sent shot weighing 400 pounds, through the target and many feet in the ground, with a velocity of 150 or more feet per second. The smooth bore, with the same charge of powder, sent a round shot of the same weight which penetrated but two-fifths of the target. (To be continued.)

Sugar at $3.40 Per Hundred. One of the most vexatious things about the present tariff—with its 4000 articles on the list—is the high price that people have to pay for sugar. Congress should cut off all about duties. Right here in Boston, refiners will sell their granulated sugar at six cents per pound by the twenty or 100 barrels, or as much as wanted, will put it about any foreign sugar and give a drawback of $2.40 per hundred, leaving $3.40 per hundred. Insurance Commissioner Tarbox appeared before the Legislative Committee last week, in support of the changes in insurance laws. He argued at length against the accumulation of a reserve by the mutual fire companies, saying that they did not need it, for contingencies were abundantly provided for by the deposit notes, as much as there is any need of making provision. He argued at length against the accumulation of a reserve by the mutual fire companies, saying that they did not need it, for contingencies were abundantly provided for by the deposit notes, as much as there is any need of making provision. When such contingencies as the Boston fire arise they are outside of ordinary business precaution. Then he read statistics from the largest companies of the state and one small one—the Cambridge, Citrus', Dorchester, Fitchburg, Hingham, Holyoke, Methuen, and Farmers' of Worcester, Middlebury, Quincy, Merrimack, and Mechanics' of Lowell, Norfolk and Worcester Mutual, for the period 1876 to 1885 inclusive, each of which, in its last year, had taken $100,000 in money enough from its cash premiums alone, regardless of other income, to pay all its losses and expenses and leave a margin. In most cases they took in $2 or $3 for every $1 paid out. Hence he argued that it was unjust to ask for a reserve, for it was money taken from people now merely to give it as plunder in the future to somebody who had no rightful claim to it.

Quincy Fire Alarm System.

BOX ALARMS BY YEARS AND BY DISTRICTS SINCE ITS ESTABLISHMENT.

Most Alarms from West Quincy and Box 40 " pulled in " the fastest.

The telegraphic fire alarm system was established Quincy, 1884, at the corner of Willard and Robertson streets. Since that time the fire department was reconstructed. The original boxes numbered eleven, viz: Boxes 25, 34, 35, 37, 42, 46, 53, 64, 71, 72 and 73.

In 1884, Box 48, at the corner of Willard and Robertson streets, was added. In 1885, seven new boxes were put in: Box 23 and 28 in the Centre, Box 41 at the junction of School and Granite streets, Box 56 at Wollaston, and Box 62 at Atlantic.

In 1885, Box 51 was added in the Wollaston district, and last year Box 25 in the Centre district.

It may not be known generally that a systematic numbering of boxes has been maintained, which renders it easy to find a fire without a card; the twenties are in the Centre district, the thirties in South Quincy, the forties in the West, the fifties at Wollaston, the sixties at North Quincy, the seventies at Quincy Point, thus making the circuit of the town.

In the four and a half years that the system has been employed there were 101 box alarms for fires, which divided into districts as follows: 1884, 1885, 1886, 1887.

| District     | 1884 | 1885 | 1886 | 1887 |
|--------------|------|------|------|------|
| Centre       | 10   | 12   | 15   | 18   |
| South Quincy | 12   | 15   | 18   | 22   |
| West Quincy  | 15   | 18   | 22   | 25   |
| Wollaston    | 18   | 22   | 25   | 28   |
| North Quincy | 22   | 25   | 28   | 32   |
| Quincy Point | 25   | 28   | 32   | 35   |

The summary below shows the alarms from each box each year since the establishment of the system, and further divides the town into districts.

| QUINCY CENTRE, 12 alarms. | 1882 | 1883 | 1884 | 1885 | 1886 | Total. |

Beware of Scrofula

Scrofula is probably more general than any other disease. It is insidious in character, and manifests itself in running sores, eruptions, boils, swellings, enlarged glands, abscesses, sore eyes, etc. Hood's Sarsaparilla expels all trace of scrofula from the blood, leaving it pure, purified, and healthy.

"I was severely afflicted with scrofula, and over a year had two running sores on my neck. Took two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and am now well, and my blood is pure and healthy."

C. E. LOVELL, Lowell, Mass.

C. A. Arnold, Arnold, Me., had scrofula sores for seven years, spring and fall. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured him.

Salt Rheum

Is one of the most disagreeable diseases caused by impure blood. It is usually cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

William Spier, Elyria, O., suffered greatly from erysipelas and salt rheum, caused by handling horses. At times his hands would crack open and bleed. He tried various preparations without aid; finally took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and now his hands are well, and his blood is pure.

"My son had salt rheum on his hands and on the calves of his legs. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla and is entirely cured." J. B. Stanton, St. Yreos, N.Y.

Baby Fingers.

If we knew the baby fingers pressed against the window pane Would be cold and stiff tomorrow. Never trouble us again. Would the bright eyes of our darling Catch the dawn upon our brow? Would the pretty of our fingers Yes as they do now?

Ah! those little ice-cold fingers How they point our memories back To the happy days and actions strewn along our backward track! Those little hands remind us, As in snowy grace they lie, Not to scatter them—but roses—For our reaping by and by.

Farm and Garden.

Stay Here in New England.

The man who loves farming is of course an enthusiast. No man succeeds in any calling who is not. There are various ways of manifesting enthusiasm, but the fire always burns steadily at the centre. We know it is the habit with a great many persons to speak of their labor as farmers in an apologetic way, as if they never would have been caught in it if they could have helped it, and meant to escape from it as soon as they could. But such persons do not seem to know that they advertise their inefficiency in all callings alike every time they speak of their labor in this way.

It is better to have the simulated article rather than none at all. The bare bluff of concentrating one's feelings upon a given purpose, will in time work results equivalent to those produced by the excitement of those feelings from a distinctly originating cause.

The day has gone by forever for emigrating from New England to the West. That vast territory is now occupied by its own settled and indigenous population, or if any traces remain to be taken, the invading army of European immigrants is coming in to claim the privilege freely offered to all. The New Englander had best make up his mind to stay where he is, recognizing the limitations of life for him right where he has been. In this way, he will be sure to make the most of it. Contentment is by no means the same thing as indifference. Here at home, in the land of his birth, he is best able to acquire those hardy habits, to learn the need of order and discipline, to combine the elements of the discipline. It is his success in his calling as a farmer, to all of which he owes maturity of character as much as health and wealth.

The very first thing the farmer of New England should do is to "keep careful prices from the market." He should know the actual cost and the actual price of everything that comes an element in his business of farming. Though he may be a blunderer at first, let him begin and keep straight on. He will acquire himself with all the mystery there is to it as he proceeds. He is not to forget the illustrious story of large crops out West, but to stand still where he is and resolve to get them out of his own acres here. Let him go across the continent and ask those who left New England in the dew of their youth in the hopes of better things, and see how quickly their eyes fill when reminded of the homes from which they are self-exiled.

There is all that here in New England, in case or in place, which is possible to be got anywhere else on the continent. In this statement all things are to be duly considered. Any man can get a living on the land here who will. Here are the precious riches of civilization. Here are relatives and friends. Here is the vigor of the very atmosphere which in distant States is wasted in vain regrets and longings that are never to be satisfied. Here are the old school-houses and churches, familiar from the earliest recollection. Here are the roads, the towns and cities sprinkled over the landscape, the short railways, and the convenient markets—Poughams.

Baby Fingers.

If we knew the baby fingers pressed against the window pane Would be cold and stiff tomorrow. Never trouble us again. Would the bright eyes of our darling Catch the dawn upon our brow? Would the pretty of our fingers Yes as they do now?

Ah! those little ice-cold fingers How they point our memories back To the happy days and actions strewn along our backward track! Those little hands remind us, As in snowy grace they lie, Not to scatter them—but roses—For our reaping by and by.

Stay Here in New England.

The man who loves farming is of course an enthusiast. No man succeeds in any calling who is not. There are various ways of manifesting enthusiasm, but the fire always burns steadily at the centre. We know it is the habit with a great many persons to speak of their labor as farmers in an apologetic way, as if they never would have been caught in it if they could have helped it, and meant to escape from it as soon as they could. But such persons do not seem to know that they advertise their inefficiency in all callings alike every time they speak of their labor in this way.

It is better to have the simulated article rather than none at all. The bare bluff of concentrating one's feelings upon a given purpose, will in time work results equivalent to those produced by the excitement of those feelings from a distinctly originating cause.

The day has gone by forever for emigrating from New England to the West. That vast territory is now occupied by its own settled and indigenous population, or if any traces remain to be taken, the invading army of European immigrants is coming in to claim the privilege freely offered to all. The New Englander had best make up his mind to stay where he is, recognizing the limitations of life for him right where he has been. In this way, he will be sure to make the most of it. Contentment is by no means the same thing as indifference. Here at home, in the land of his birth, he is best able to acquire those hardy habits, to learn the need of order and discipline, to combine the elements of the discipline. It is his success in his calling as a farmer, to all of which he owes maturity of character as much as health and wealth.

The very first thing the farmer of New England should do is to "keep careful prices from the market." He should know the actual cost and the actual price of everything that comes an element in his business of farming. Though he may be a blunderer at first, let him begin and keep straight on. He will acquire himself with all the mystery there is to it as he proceeds. He is not to forget the illustrious story of large crops out West, but to stand still where he is and resolve to get them out of his own acres here. Let him go across the continent and ask those who left New England in the dew of their youth in the hopes of better things, and see how quickly their eyes fill when reminded of the homes from which they are self-exiled.

There is all that here in New England, in case or in place, which is possible to be got anywhere else on the continent. In this statement all things are to be duly considered. Any man can get a living on the land here who will. Here are the precious riches of civilization. Here are relatives and friends. Here is the vigor of the very atmosphere which in distant States is wasted in vain regrets and longings that are never to be satisfied. Here are the old school-houses and churches, familiar from the earliest recollection. Here are the roads, the towns and cities sprinkled over the landscape, the short railways, and the convenient markets—Poughams.

Granite Contractor Dead.
Mr. Ezekiel C. Sargent, a former resident of Quincy Neck, and a well known granite contractor, died suddenly in Concord, N. H., Friday, Feb. 18. His remains were brought to Quincy, Monday, and interred at the Mt. Wollaston Cemtery. Services at the grave were conducted by Rev. Edward Norton.
A dispatch from Concord to the Manchester (N. H.) Union says:
"Mr. Sargent was a native of Hallowell and 50 years ago began the business of stone cutting in Quincy, Mass., and for years did an immense business there. In 1857 he came to this city and established the Concord Granite Company, since which he has carried on the business here and until quite recently in Quincy. He built one-third of the Centennial building at Philadelphia, as well as many other large buildings, amassing a large fortune, which,
it is understood, he bequeathed to his son, Mr. Sargent, who is now in Quincy, and is survived by two sons, Walter
C. of Barre, Vt., John S. of Quincy, and two daughters, Mrs. Mary L. Sampson and Mrs. Annie Clapp, both of Quincy.
He is survived by his wife, Mrs. J. C. of this city and Capt. Walter H. of Plymouth, N. H., but at the present a resident of Concord."
Secret Societies.
Mt. Wollaston Lodge, I. O. O. F., expects to initiate three candidates at the next meeting.
Monterey Encampment of Odd Fellows of Hyde Park was instituted yesterday
under very favorable circumstances. Several of the Encampment branch from Quincy were present.
A new lodge of Odd Fellows was organized in Boston Thursday with 320 members, being the largest lodge ever instituted by the order in the State. Work commenced at 9.30 A. M. and continued to 10.45 P. M., 325 of the number being instituted.
Granite Commandery United Order Golden Cross, held a public installation at Faxon Hall, last Saturday evening. The ceremonies were conducted in a very impressive manner by D. D. Thomas B. Vincent of Braintree, assisted by Brother Knights, Frank R. Starkey and Charles A.
Belcher, also of the same town. At the conclusion of the installation ceremonies
the Grand Officers made short addresses, which were listened to with much interest.
An invitation was then extended to the company to proceed to the lower hall,
where they found the tables beautifully spread, the ladies of the Commandery having provided an excellent turkey supper, with all the fixings. Short speeches followed this feast of good things, one being made by Mrs. Josephine Shaw, of Braintree.
The following officers were installed:
N. C.—William L. Quincy.
V. S. C.—Ella A. Hicks.
K. R.—N. Q. Bachelder.
T.—Mrs. N. Q. Bachelder.
P. K. C.—George H. Gammon.
P.—William Gray.
I. G.—H. Chubbuck.
O. G.—C. B. Huston.
O. N. C.—Levi D. Berry.
SWEDEN. What Bishop C. D. Foss, of the M. E. Church, thought of Sweden:
"No part of my travelling in Europe was more interesting for me and my family
than the two weeks we spent in Sweden.
My impression was that the Swedes have a very warm, Godly type of Methodism."
The people seem to hunger after the pure gospel, and enjoy its simple and biblical illustration. The ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church are devoted, zealous men, fluent speakers and successful pastors.
In gentleness and lowliness of spirit, the Europeans for the Americans and the high north are struggling with the sunny Italy. I don't know any people more pleasant than the Swedes. Translated from the Swedish Messenger by Dr. A. Z.
Fryell.

NOTICE TO VOTERS.
THE Board of Registrars of Voters will be in session at the DISTRICT COURT ROOM,
on WEDNESDAY EVENING, February 23, and on SATURDAY EVENING, February 26, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock. Also, on WEDNESDAY, March 2, from 7.30 to 9 o'clock and from 7.30 to 10 o'clock P. M.
For the purpose of receiving evidence of qualifications of persons claiming a right to vote in the approaching election, and of correcting the list of Voters as provided by law.
Applicants for registration must personally appear before the Board with evidence of the fact that they are qualified to vote, and payment of a tax assessed upon them in the last year within two years—unless by law exempt from taxation; and if a naturalized citizen, he must also produce for inspection his certificate of naturalization, which must be the date not less than six months prior to the date of application. No person can vote at the polls unless he is registered, and unless he has previously been placed upon the voting list, and unless he can be placed on the list of voters before the Board on or before the day of registration, viz., on Wednesday, Feb. 23, or Saturday, Feb. 26, at 9 o'clock P. M., when registration will close.
If you are entitled to vote, and do not find your name on the list, come before it, come before it is too late and inquire why it is omitted.

TOWN OF QUINCY.
Your attention is respectfully called to the following extracts from the Public Statutes of this Commonwealth, Chap.
32, Secs. 7, 8 and 9:
"Physicians and midwives shall, on or before the fifth day of each month, report to the clerk of each city or town, except Boston, a correct list of all children born therein during the month next preceding the birth of which they were present, stating the place and date of each birth and the parents name."
The clerk of each city and town shall give to all physicians and midwives applying therefor, blanks for returns under the preceding section, and shall be bound to report such list for ten days after it is due and for each offence forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty dollars.
In accordance with the above, public notice is hereby given that I am prepared to furnish the blanks required for the above returns.

SUPPLEMENT.

The Quincy Patriot.

Another Great Clock.

Another great clock has been added to the horological wonders of the world—a piece of mechanism that will vie with the elaborate marvel of Strasburg Cathedral, and put the processional curiosity of Bernese Tower into the shade. The latest effort of the renowned Christian Martin of Villigen in the Black Forest, is said, in its way, to surpass anything of the kind yet attempted. It is 24 meters high, 24 broad, and shows the seconds, minutes, quarter hours, hours, days, weeks, months, the four seasons of the year and leap years until the last sound of the year 99,999 of the Christian era.

Moreover, it tells on its face the correct time for various latitudes, together with the phases of the moon and a variety of useful information generally confined to the pages of an almanac.

It also contains a vast number of working figures representing the life of man, the creed of Christendom and the ancient pagan and Tuetonic mythologies. Sixty separate and individualized statuettes strike the 60 minutes. Death is represented, as in Holbein's famous dance, in the form of a skeleton. In another part appear the 12 apostles, the seven ages of man, modeled after the description of Shakespeare, the four seasons, the 12 signs of the zodiac and so on.

During the night time a watchman sallies forth and blows the hour upon his horn, while at sunrise chancelike appears and crows lustily. The cuckoo also calls, but only once a year—on the first day in spring. Besides the figures there is a whole series of moveable figures in enamel, exhibiting in succession the seven days of creation and the fourteen stations of the cross. At a certain hour a little sacristan rings a bell in the spire and kneels down and folds his hands as if in prayer, and above all the musical works are said to have a sweet and delicious flutlike tone.—St. James Gazette.

Airing Rooms.

It is a great mistake that the whole house, particularly sleeping rooms and the dining rooms, receive little ventilating and purifying the air, when it can be done with so little trouble and no expense. A pitcher of cold water placed on the table or bureau will absorb all the gases with which the room is filled from the respiration of those eating or sleeping in the apartment. Very few realize how important such purification is for the health of the family, or, indeed, understand or realize that there can be any impurity in the rooms, yet in a few hours a pitcher or pail of cold water—the colder the better effective—will make the air of the room pure, but the water will be entirely unfit for use.

In bedrooms a pail or a pitcher of water should be always kept, and changed often if any one stays in the room during the day, certainly be put in fresh when the inmates retire. Such water should never be drunk, but either a covered pitcher or glass bottle with a stopper should be used for drinking water, and always be kept closely covered. Impure water causes more sickness than even impure air, and for that reason, before using water from a pump or reservoir for drinking or cooking, one should pump or draw out enough to clear the pipes before using it, particularly in the morning, after the water has been standing in the pipes all night.—Philadelphia Call.

He was not an Infidel.

I once met a thoughtful scholar who told me that for years he had read every book he could which assailed the religion of Jesus Christ, and he said he should have become an infidel but for three things: First, I am a man. I am going somewhere. Tonight I am a day nearer my grave than I was last night. I have read all such books can tell me. They shed not one solitary ray of hope or light upon the darkness. They shall not take the only guide and leave me stone blind. Second, I had a mother. I saw her go down into the dark valley where I am going, and she leaned upon an unseen arm as calmly as a child goes to sleep on the breast of its mother. I know that was not a dream. Third, I have three motherless daughters (and he said it with tears in his eyes). They have no protector but myself. I would rather kill them than leave them in this sinful world if you blot out from it all the teachings of the Gospel.—Bishop Whipple.

Decrease in the Public Debt.

It is estimated that there has been a decrease of nearly $2,000,000 in the public debt during February.

Wedding Bells.

Prominent among the many stately mansions erected within a few years past in Washington, is that of Mrs. Patten, situated on Massachusetts avenue. Mrs. Patten's husband, was a partner of John Mackay, the California millionaire, and died in 1872, leaving her with five small daughters. She took them abroad, and for twelve years devoted herself to their education, taking lessons in several branches herself. One of her daughters, Miss Katherine, was married on Monday night of last week to John Milton Glover, a young lawyer, who represents one of the St. Louis districts in Congress, and who has been reelected to the Fifty-fifth Congress. The bride is tall and slight, with dark-brown hair and eyes, and very ladylike in her deportment. The wedding-dress was of white velvet, with a train nearly three yards long, and a high-necked waist and elbow-sleeves, trimmed with duchess lace. Miss Patten's four sisters acted as bridesmaids, Miss Josephine and Miss Mary wearing dresses of blue tulle dotted with blue pearls and looped with blue ribbon. Miss Edith and Miss Ellen wore similar dresses of delicate pink tulle, dotted with pink pearls and looped with pink ribbon. Mrs. Patten, who gave her daughter away, wore a magnificent blue silk dress, with plush stripes, the front breadth of the skirt draped with her own bridal veil, and a full set of diamonds. The bride could not wear with her wedding-dress the diamond necklace which was the bridegroom's wedding gift, and which was formed of forty-seven diamonds, perfectly matched, with an oval pendant. The company included the Bishop of Peoria, Father Chapelle, and leading Romanists of this city, a party from St. Louis and another party from the Pacific coast. The refreshments served after the ceremony in the banquet-room were on a service of solid gold, the gold knives and forks having handles of Dresden china, and the spoons had golden bowls, with handles inlaid with turquoise. It was the most elegant entertainment ever served in Washington city.—Budget.

A Heavy Gale.

At 10 o'clock on Sunday night last, the wind was blowing at the rate of 110 miles an hour from the northwest at the station of the Signal Service, at Mt. Washington. In Boston the highest velocity reached on Sunday by the wind was 40 miles an hour. The gale was quite heavy at Cape Cod.

The snowstorm of Saturday was quite general in New England. At Bellows Falls, Vt., there was three and one-half feet of snow, which the high wind drifted badly, greatly delaying railroad travel. At Chester, Vt., about a foot of snow fell, and the drifting caused the abandonment of some trains. The snow was also very heavy at Brattleboro, Vt., and travel was generally suspended.

In New York, the fall of snow was heavy, seriously interfering with travel.

At St. Paul, Minn., the drifts were many feet deep, causing the abandonment of some trains. All lines report blockades and more trouble than from any storm this winter.

About 10 inches of snow fell at Wilkes-barre, Pa., at Pottsville, Harrisburg, Shenandoah, etc., more than a foot was reported.

A despatch from Winchester, W. Va., reports the worst storm of the season.

In Canada a very heavy fall of snow is reported. Trains entering Montreal were from two to five hours late. Several trains stalled.

Throughout Michigan the storm was said to be of mammoth proportions, and the gale blew the snow about in a lively manner.

At Edinonton, Ga., there was a frightful cyclone on Saturday afternoon. The academy was blown down and many residences wrecked. A man named Marshall was killed and several others badly injured.

Much damage was caused by the gale at Louisville, Ky. About 140 feet of the western wall of the Southern Exposition Building was smashed in.

In the recent blizzard at Holbrook, Ariz., Mrs. Carl, a ranch woman, and her two children, were frozen to death. They were visiting a neighbor and starting for home were caught in the blizzard. Her husband supposed that she had remained all night at the neighbor's and started out for his family the next day. A searching party was organized and soon found the bodies.

SEASONABLE ETYMOLOGY. An exchange says that the word "toboggan" is from an Indian term signifying a sled. This is not the case. It is from the two Latin words, "tobus," "to smash," and "bogubus," meaning "all to pieces."

Many thousand head of cattle have perished by reason of the recent severe weather in Montana.

Temperance at Hyde Park.

Rev. Fr. R. J. Barry, pastor of the Church of the Precious Blood, at Hyde Park, on Sunday last, varied the usual forenoon services by delivering a sermon on the temperance question. There was a good attendance, and his forcible remarks evidently made a deep impression. Fr. Barry began by reading extracts from the articles promulgated by the recent Catholic council at Baltimore, relating to the enormity of the liquor traffic and its great harm and resultant evils. The speaker said it not only lards the one that uses it, but it brings war and woe upon those dependent upon him. There is too much drinking Saturday nights. Carry your wages home to your families. Many a poor woman is made to suffer through the drinking of her husband or son, and too often gets a blow, when she, who helps more than any other to make the home pleasant, is deserving of nothing but kindness. Intemperance makes men poor, and do the saloon keepers who have got the money turn around and help support the poor? Not at all. Among my earliest recollections is that of seeing a man thrown violently into the street from a saloon. Was it because he was drunk? No, for they had furnished the liquor that made him drunk. No, he had simply got to the bottom of his pocket, and they were his friends no longer. Don't sell liquor. I would rather see any young man become a tramp and beg from door to door than to sell liquor for a living. There is no meaner or more contemptible way of getting a living than by selling rum, and no greater fools exist than those that make the business so profitable by giving it their patronage.

A tramp has this advantage over the rum seller and drunkard, for he, at least, is not making some home miserable, some woman unhappy, or spending the substance of the orphan. The principal reason of violating Sunday and staying away from church is drinking. Temperance brings happiness, wealth, contentment of home and all the blessings for which we should strive.

There are a thousand blessings for the temperate home that otherwise are never enjoyed. Intemperance is a mortal sin against God, and the worse enemy man himself has to contend with. It is the growing vice and the abounding sin of the day, and the parent of all villainy. No country or city has escaped, but has been disgraced by it, and there is no station in life it has not debased. We need not go far for examples of its great harm. I might picture instance after instance that have come under my notice during my ministry here the past few years. Very often it does its work quickly, and then it is the more noticeable. I remember one man of ability and wealth, a brilliant man and one who provided well for his family, who lived within six miles of this church, who had this bad habit of drinking. We warned him and urged him to think of the consequences to his beautiful wife and four children, but it was unheeded. He kept growing worse, and one day was found drowned. His money had been run through, and now the family is supported by charity. Don't you know of almost similar cases and has there not been enough of such work? I exhort every man who has this weakness, this love for strong drink, to abstain from it forever. Millions of money are spent every year for liquor which shortens men's lives and brings woe and poverty on many innocent persons.

I believe that half the quack medicines of the day are used simply for their alcoholic qualities, and that the drug stores are making as many new drunkards as the grog shops. The stuff is dealt out to children and delicate women, and its consequences are fearful to contemplate. All young persons should grow up strangers to the taste of it. The way of the drunkard is the way of the fool. St. Vernon said that the monkey was not more foolish, nor the hawk more repulsive, than the drunkard, and that a good dog was far superior—that it was a better parent and a truster friend. He likened the drunkard to the wolf, which, after filling up on its prey, will if it surprises more, vomit up what it has already devoured, that it may carry out its wolfish nature by more destruction. Drunkenness leads to everything bad, and is the most detestable of vices of the human race. Its victims are blind to their own folly, and, unlike the temperate, wise man, will not take advice. When I am called to the bedside of a drunkard, it is always—"Sure, I take a little, but I never abuse it," although they may be about to draw their last breath. You know its disastrous physical effects, but its moral and spiritual aspects are to be more considered, as it is condemned by God.

The speaker closed by urging his congregation to throw their whole efforts against the evil, and to set good examples to their children.

Robert Bonner has been offered $100,000 for Mandis, but refuses to sell at any price.

SAFER RISKS. Two life insurance companies in England classify risks so that total abstainers from intoxicating liquors come under one heading. For a period of twenty years it was found that while the number of expected deaths under the table of mortality would have been 3,484, the actual deaths of total abstainers was only 2,408. Contrariwise in the class of moderate drinkers where 5,430 deaths were expected 5,284 occurred.

Old "willow pattern" china is based on a Chinese legend of a mandarin's daughter who fell in love and eloped with her father's gardener. They were overtaken on a bridge by the angry mandarin, who threw the gardener into the water. The unhappy maiden jumped in and drowned herself. The bodies never were recovered, but near the spot sprang up a beautiful willow tree, in which a pair of turtle doves built their nest, and which were looked upon as the souls of the dead lovers transformed by the gods. The real old willow pattern china is rare and costly.

One of the most expensive works architects have now in hand is the new Congress Hall for Buenos Ayres. This is to cost $10,000,000, and to be built in four years. It is to be in the Renaissance style, its dimensions being 1,300 feet by 900 feet. The site covers twenty acres in the best part of the city.

Dedham Statistics.

DEDHAM, Mass., Feb. 28.—The town treasurer makes the following report of expenditures for 1886:—Support of schools, $80,140.91; new high schoolhouse, $12,655.15; Fire Department, $3,310.00; support of poor, $5,218.89; insane at hospitals, $1,820.99; printing, advertising, etc., $1,795.99; lockup and traps, $675.42; town officers, $1,806.50; collector of taxes, $837.42; abatement of taxes, $1,287.69; Memorial Hall, $1,019.01; Public Library, $1,625; Dedham Water Company, $600.66; Memorial Day, $200; police, $2,255.29; lighting streets, $2,949.42; State aid, $1162; cemeteries, $465.45; highways, $10,904.90; Winthrop street, $510.50; Richard street, $703.80; Clark street, $858; Washington street culvert, $517.21; superintendent of streets, $1,133.33; expense of flood, $610.35; centennial celebration, $2,483.30; total, $89,007.27.

Hyde Park.

Mr. Henry H. Faxon has donated $25 to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Hyde Park, to assist in making the meeting of Norfolk County Temperance Union, to be soon held at Dedham, a success, and thus further the work of no license in the county.

VALUATION OF PLYMOUTH. The town report gives the valuation of real estate at $3,375,625; personal property, $1,600,100; a gain in real estate of $179,200; a gain in personal property of $193,675. The number of taxpayers is 2890. The appropriations for the year were $62,637.42, or $8433.80 in excess of last year.

FORTY-THREE BAD MEN. The postal law makes it larceny to take a newspaper and refuse to pay for it. A newspaper in Illinois recently brought suit against forty-three men who would not pay their subscriptions, and obtained judgment in each for the full amount of the claim. Of these, twenty-eight men made affidavit that they owned no more property than the law allowed, thus preventing attachments. Then they, under the decision of the Supreme Court, were arrested for petty larceny, and bound over in the sum of $300 each. All but six gave bonds and six went to jail.—Dedham Transcript.

BIG AND LITTLE CHECKS. Checks for sums inside of a dollar are not an uncommon thing in business. There hangs in the office of the Pacific mill the cancelled check of the United States for one cent. Messrs. Hewins & Hall of Boston, have framed and hung in their counting room one drawn by the same official for two cents. The other extreme in checks, which naturally comes to mind in this connection, may be seen in the Bank of Commerce, New York, where there hangs on the wall a handsome framed check for $14,000,000, signed by Kidder, Peabody & Co., Boston.

SENIOR OFFICER. The senior officer in the army of the United States is Second-Lieut. Michael Moore, who entered the service as a musician on the 30th of April, 1812, and after a continuous service from that time until 1869, was commissioned a second-lieutenant in the Ninth Infantry. In 1870 he was placed on the retired list, and is now in the ninety-third year of his age, and is said to be enjoying good health after his seventy-five years of honorable service. Gen. Harney, who comes next, was commissioned a second-lieutenant in the First Infantry, Feb. 13, 1818. He had two brothers in the service, one a lieutenant of infantry and the other a surgeon. Next to Gen. Harney comes Benjamin King, who was commissioned as surgeon in 1818, and he is followed by Gen. Morrison, who was commissioned a lieutenant of artillery in 1820. All of the graduates of the West Point class of 1843, of which Grant was a member, and of the class of 1844, of which Hancock was a member, are dead or on the retired list.

THE COST OF TOOTING. A well posted railway man says that the obligatory tooting of a locomotive on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, in an ordinary day's run, involves a waste of steam requiring the consumption of 280 pounds of coal to renew. He estimates the whistling expenses of that particular railway at $15,000 per year. There is a similar waste in the blowing of the whistles of stationary and steamboat engines. It is a matter worth the serious study of practical railroad men, whether they cannot devise a cheaper noise with which to give notice of the approach of trains to stations and grade crossings.

DEMANDS FOR SPECIAL FIGURES. A St. Louis type founder has discovered a fact which he seems to "view with alarm" to a certain extent. "Here we are," he says, "on the eve of 1888, which creates a triple demand for the figure 8. This triple use of figures in the annals of time will not occur again until 1911, 1909, 2000, 2022, 2111, 2122, 2202, 2211, 2222, etc." It must be a matter of congratulation to the type founders that the extraordinary demands for special figures, as in case of 1888, do not come upon them with great and overpowering suddenness. They would seem to have abundance of time, for instance, to prepare for the unprecedented tax upon their machinery by the time the year 2222 comes around.

Ancient Perfumes.

Two ancient Egyptian perfumes have been reconstituted through the researches of a young French professor at Lyons, who has devoted himself to studying Egyptian sculpture and the plants of the Nile valley. By hunting through the papyrus texts and the inscriptions on the walls of the temple lavatories, he has found the recipes for the manufacture of "tasi" and "kyphi." The former was a temple perfume, used to anoint the statues of the Egyptian Venus. "Kyphi" was more important, and besides being used at home for the rites of Isis and Serapis, was imported into Greece and Rome after the conquest of Egypt. It then became the favorite perfume among the luxurious Greeks and Romans, who were anointed with "kyphi" after the bath, and were sprinkled with the essence during the grand banquets, while sometimes it was used to perfume the wine.

He Felt Hurt.

"See here!" said a farmer as he entered a restaurant the other day. "I don't like the way I have been used."

"What's wrong?" asked the restauranter.

"Last March I bought a can of oysters here."

"Yes, I remember."

"When I took it home my wife suggested that we put it away down cellar for Fourth of July. When we opened it on the glorious Fourth—"

"Great Scott!"

"Yes, you'd have said great Scott and little Scotts and all other sorts of Scotts. You said they were fresh oysters, and I took your word for it and paid forty cents in cash."

The restauranter counted out forty cents, placed the change in the man's hand, and motioned him to go out.

"Thankee," said the farmer as he backed out, "you are a square man and I told my wife you were probably deceived in the oysters yourself. One of my neighbors said he smelt 'em seven miles down the road. Thankee—this is k'nd."

The Shoemaker's Logic.

An old French shoemaker, who boasted that nothing could frighten him, was put to the test by two young men. One of them pretended to be dead, and the other going to the shoemaker, induced him to sit up with the supposed corpse. The shoemaker was in a hurry for some work, so he took his tools and leather and began work beside the corpse. About 1 o'clock, coffee having exhilarated him, he began singing a lively tune, keeping time with his hammer. Suddenly the corpse arose and exclaimed, in a hollow voice:

"When a man is in the presence of death he should not sing!"

The shoemaker started, then suddenly dealt the corpse a blow on the head, exclaiming at the same time:

"When a man is dead he should not speak."

It was the last time they tried to scare the shoemaker.

Depot or Station.

"Depot" is one of the most abused words in the French language. It means a warehouse or a place of deposit. Webster's dictionary says: "It is unfortunate that in the United States, the stopping places on railways first received the name of depot—a gross misapplication of the term, since it means a storage or magazine. In England the name has always been station or station house, and there is now a growing tendency to adopt this in the United States as the only proper word." Discriminating people nowadays use the word station, not because it is English, you know, but because it comes from a good Latin root, and is infinitely more appropriate than "depot."

GAIN IN BUSINESS. The statistics of the exports and imports of the United States for eleven months of 1886 show a remarkable gain in the volume of business over the corresponding period of 1885. The imports were $607,000,000, an increase of over $70,000,000, while the exports, $615,410,000, were $15,000,000 ahead of that year; exclusive of exported foreign goods, $12,587,000. Meanwhile there is plenty of money at the great trade centres, the New York bank reserve being about $15,000,000 above all requirements. Legitimate trade finds money plenty at fair rates, despite the activity of business.

The Washington National Tribune says: "Under the present system of taxation the price of brown sugar has been reduced from 11 cents a pound to 44 cents, and the finer grades in proportion. The price of sheetings, shirtings and calicoes have been reduced one-half. Today the workman not only gets more dollars for his week's labor than he ever did, but each dollar that he receives will buy as much as $1.25 or $1.50 would fifteen years ago. Why should we not, therefore, persevere in a course which has brought us so many substantial benefits?"

THE REASON. "What does that red light mean, father?" asked a little boy as they were walking through the depot one night.

"That means danger, my son," replied the father who was a doctor.

"And is that the reason," continued the little fellow, looking up in his father's face, "that they always have a red light in the drug store window?"

Methodical Jay Gould.

If Jay Gould got any salary at all I should say that he earned it the most easily of any man in town. He is the personification of easy going, and never loses his temper or his head. He treats his head through the medium of his stomach by living very plainly; in fact, he commits no excesses in any direction except money making. He has himself under perfect control. He is as methodical as a machine, goes to bed at such an hour, gets up at such an hour and spends just so many hours at his office. Naturally, everybody who works with him or for him likes him. But neither as president of the Manhattan Elevated nor of Gould system does he take any salary. If he gets his $5 for each attendance at a meeting of the Western Union directory it is because the money is sent to him.—Providence Journal.

The Greatest Curse.

General Master Workman Powderly has written a letter to the secretary of Good Templar lodge in Brooklyn, in which he says:—"I am pleased to know that my humble efforts in behalf of the sacred cause of temperance meets with your approbation. I have never said anything upon the subject that I did not mean, and the sentiments, that I have expressed fail to convey the depth of what I do feel upon this subject. I regard the use of strong drink by men and women as the greatest curse that can befall them. To the use of liquor can be ascribed nine-tenths of the ills that befall our working people, and while our working people are always held up as those most likely to be injured by the use of rum, it is only because through poverty their faults are more easily discovered than those on the other side, who drink fully as much and are as much the slaves of drink as are the working people, the only difference being in the quality of the drinks. One has to content himself with five cent beer, the other with $1.50 champagne. The effect is the same and the use of both should be abolished if we hope to have strong men and women for the future."—I. C. B. U. Journal.

A GOOD ONE. "Doctor," said a patient who lived in a boarding house and consequently had nothing to do, "can't you suggest some light employment for me, so I could take my mind off myself?"

"Are you fond of fancy work?" he asked.

"Oh, I am heartily tired of that. I have been learning new stitches for the past two years. I want something new and different."

"Something that will keep you busy every moment of the day—keep your hands occupied?"

"That's it exactly."

"Tell your husband to get you a Waterbury watch, and you take the contract to keep it wound up. That will come pretty near keeping you busy as long as you live."

Those who cannot afford to hire a sleigh, can have the same amount of fun by filling a tub with snow and then sitting with their feet in it, hiring a small boy to ring a bell.

Thirty curious wood engraving have been dug up on the line of the Cape Cod Canal at the depth of fifteen feet. They are of oak, and were made by a Mr. Nye, who was slightly unbalanced mentally, and who owned the land 120 years ago. The engravings are in an excellent state of preservation.

Wife—I don't see how you can say that Mr. Whitechoker has an effeminate way of talking. He has a very loud voice.

Husband—I mean by an effeminate way of talking, my dear, that he talks all the time.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

A nugget of gold recently found by some Chinese miners in Sierra county, Cal., weighed 158 ounces and sold for $31,000, and is said to be the third largest ever found.

There are twenty thousand female artists earning their living at Paris as painters, sculptors, musician or actresses. The total number, including men and women is forty-two thousand.

Mrs. Fisher, a brunette, with good features, fine eyes, and a ready tongue, runs an eighty-horse-power Harris-Corliss engine in Providence, and does it well.

It is said that the edelweiss, the famous flower of the Alps, is found on Mt. Rainier, in Washington Territory.

Mary Komis, a plump and rosy-lipped Flemish girl of 23, with no bonnet or shawl, crossed the Atlantic in the steamship Westerland. She says she did not intend to. She was visiting aboard at Antwerp when the steamship started. She will be sent back.

The boasted dry atmosphere of Minneapolis has become a myth. The present winter has been one of the most trying in its extreme cold, dampness and sudden changes in temperature ever known in the Northwest.

The great revival meetings in the Brooklyn Tabernacle, which began with the week of prayer, have resulted in 2000 conversions, Dr. Talmage thinks.

Ex-Governor Hauser of Montana says that about 25 per cent. of the cattle in that territory have perished during the winter.

There is a petition in circulation in New York for the appointment of a half-dozen women on the corps of tenement-house inspectors. It is largely signed.

Germans are now making piano cases of paper. They are creamy white and are said to improve the tone in quality, though diminishing its volume.

Selectmen's Doings.

The Board organized Tuesday morning by the unanimous choice of Hon. William A. Hodges as chairman, Walter H. Ripley secretary, and William N. Eaton paymaster.

The Board has voted to meet Tuesday afternoon from 1.30 to 4.30, to transact town business; and from 5 to 8 on the last Saturday of each month to pay State Aid.

The almshouse was placed in charge of the chairman, Mr. Hodges.

The following appointments have been made:

Care of Town Clock, Charles F. Pettengill.

Twilight of coal, grain and hay, Warren W. Adams, Charles H. Hersey, W. Walter Ewell, George W. Rhines, Joseph M. Glover, Thomas Dunlop, E. W. Sheppard, Herbert Adams.

Measures of wood and bark, Warren W. Adams, Joseph M. Glover, Thomas Dunlop, E. W. Sheppard, Herbert Adams.

Special police, William Powers of West Quincy, William B. Barry for St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The bond of Constable Farnall to transact civil business was approved early Tuesday morning, being the only one qualified thus far.

Committee on Warrant.

The committee appointed at the annual town meeting to consider the remaining articles in the March warrant, met at the Town House Wednesday afternoon and organized with Hon. John Quincy Adams as chairman, and Charles H. Porter as secretary. Five sub-committees were made and the warrant divided as follows:

Schools, Library, etc.—Messrs. Ripley, Gordon and Hayes, to whom were referred the Reports of the School Committee, Public Library, Building Committee, Adams Academy and Woodland fund, and Articles 4, 11 and 12.

Highways.—Messrs. G. H. Field, Marsh, J. A. Field, Lacy and Elcock, to whom were referred articles 4, 12 to 19 inclusive, 21, 22, 23 to 37 inclusive, 58 and 59.

Cemeteries, Health, and Miscellaneous.—Messrs. King, O'Brien, Vogel and Follen, to whom were referred the Reports of the Committee on extension of Mt. Wollaston Cemetery, Managers of Mt. Wollaston Cemetery, Board of Health, and Sewerage Committee; also articles 4, 11, 24, 48, 49, 51 and 52.

Fire Department.—Messrs. Eder, Follen, Duggan and McDowell, to whom were referred the Report of the Chief Engineer, and articles 4, 30, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44 and 60.

Finance.—Messrs. Hodges, Porter, Plankman and Gurney, to whom were referred the Selectmen's Report, Auditors' Report, Report of Sinking Fund, and of the Road Commissioners, and articles 4, 24, 25, and 62.

The remaining articles of the warrant

then considered by the committee as a whole.

Adjourned to Thursday evening, March 17th, at 7.30.

Secret Societies.

Merry Mount Lodge, have made full arrangements for their entertainment which will take place in the Town Hall, Wednesday evening, March 23d. The Temple Masonic Company and Mr. Dudley H. Prescott of Boston have been secured who will give a first-class entertainment. Full particulars given in the PATRIOT of last week.

Quincy Lodge, initiated three candidates at their last meeting and admitted two by card. Members from Merry Mount and other lodges were present. The work was performed in an excellent manner, and at the close of the meeting a collation was served.

K. A. L. O. F. M., will have a pound party at their meeting, next Wednesday evening, and it is expected that a large number will be present to enjoy the sociable.

F. A. M. M., Union Lodge of Masons of Dorchester, held its 914th communication Tuesday evening.

L. O. O. F., At the regular meeting of Mt. Wollaston Lodge of Odd Fellows Tuesday evening, four candidates received the first degree. Never was the work performed better in the lodge. Since the beginning of the term January 1, five well-known citizens have been initiated, and three applications are under consideration.

Mt. Wollaston Lodge appointed a committee to arrange for an entertainment to be given April 20, the date observed by Odd Fellows throughout the world as anniversary day.

Selectman-elect Walter H. Ripley, the permanent secretary of Mt. Wollaston Lodge, received the warm congratulations of his brothers Tuesday evening, and refreshments were served in his honor at the close of the meeting.

Mt. Hebron Encampment, No. 24, L. O. O. F., will be reinitiated at Stoughton next Friday afternoon by the Grand Officers. In the evening the officers of the Shalom Encampment, No. 12, of Dorchester, will work the degrees on the fifth or more candidates. Among the officers of visiting Encampment are Patriarchs Southern, Farnall, Burke, Talbot and Prescott of Quincy.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS.

In the House Wednesday, the committee on roads and bridges reported a bill to require every town to elect a road commissioner, to have full powers over roads, shade trees and sidewalks, and sewers and drains, where there is no sewer drainage, under the direction of the selectmen.

Also a bill to amend Chap. 51 of the Public Statutes so that highways may be laid out under the provisions of law authorizing the assessment of betterments in towns where such provisions have been accepted.

THE NEW BLOCK. None of the firms to occupy the new block of Messrs. Durgin & Merrill will move into their new quarters next week, the work on the building not being far enough advanced. It will probably be nearer the first of April. Sixteen of the twenty-three offices are already let. The new drug store of A. G. Durgin promises to be one of the finest in the state. His new fixtures which are expected today more than filled one freight car. J. F. Merrill's new store will also be remodelled, and the Quincy One Price Clothing Store will have a much better opportunity to display its large stock.

SEVENTEENTH ANNIVERSARY.

The Norfolk County Gazette has just celebrated its seventeenth birthday, and we are pleased to tender our congratulations on the prosperity of this most and well conducted journal. Brother Mosely has our best wishes for his future success.

Quincy Locals.

Some wintry days this week.

St. Patrick's day next Thursday.

John V. Hunt has obtained an increase of pension.

No school Thursday afternoon because of the storm.

The Quincy Savings Bank was the first to put up an awning this season.

Spring is near at hand, boys have begun to play marbles on the sidewalks.

Tirrell & Sons give notice that they are prepared to store sleighs for the summer.

Rev. H. F. Jenks of Canton, will preach at the First Congregational Church tomorrow.

Hyacinths, the poetry on the first page

of this issue is from the pen of Miss E. E. Reed of East Milton.

Will the Swedish girl who advertised for a situation in this issue, call or send her address to the Patriot Office immediately.

The highways should not be reconstructed, but therefore vote not to reconsider the Act establishing Road Commissioners.

The Fragment Society will meet next Wednesday afternoon, March 16th, at 8 o'clock at Mrs. J. H. Emery's, Hancock street.

Owing to the severity of the snow storm last Sunday, less than thirty persons including the choir, were present at services in Christ Church.

Joseph W. Lombard sells on Wednesday next, in Pierce's block, a lot of furniture and other goods, as will be noticed by his advertisement.

Hon. John Quincy Adams did not draw his commission of consul general, neither does he want any pay for service as Minister.

Bryan N. Adams sells on Tuesday evening, in East Braintree, a lot of fine furniture, belonging to W. L. Jordan. Sale commences at 1.30 o'clock.

The sub-committee having in charge the articles relating to fire department matters will give a hearing at the Selectmen's Room on Monday evening.

At the Congregational Church tomorrow.

At the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, met at 6 o'clock. Communion Service at 2.30 p.m.

We would call the attention of ladies to the new dressmaking rooms opened on Washington street, house formerly occupied by James E. Tirrell, Esq., rear of the grain store, by Madame Falkoner.

Among the financial embarrassment reported in the daily papers this week were two Quincy business men who had gone into insolvency: N. T. Trask, the proprietor of the Coliseum, for $14,000, and George A. Ordway, proprietor of the Quincy Hotel.

The new Selectmen, with the assistance of the Chief of Police, have removed one occupant from office since their election. Selectman Eaton did not need the substantial backing, and it was thought safe to remove it. Ex-Selectman Field is said to have strongly objected to the removal during his term of office.

Much commotion prevailed at the late Republican caucus how the 19 candidates could receive a majority of the votes cast. A solution will be found in the fact that the total of the votes for the candidates exceeds the number thrown.

A serious mistake being made in the count. It was a mistake of the moderator to put candidates for Constables on the committee to count votes.

On Wednesday evening next the Quincy School Alumni will hold its second gathering. Meeting will be held in the school house at Atlantic and many of the old pupils have signified their intention of being present, and it is hoped that the gathering will be large as nearly all the old teachers are expected. It is intended that all the wives and husbands of the Alumni will consider themselves invited to be present.

Woman Suffrage.

Mr. Tilton A. Mead rehearsed the choir of the Congregational Church at its residence on Forest street, Thursday evening, and after singing for about two hours Mr. Mead came to the conclusion that those who had come out such a stormy night deserved a treat, so leading the way to the dining room they sat down to a full table of oysters, coffee and ice cream, and after a dozen or two of comical stories had been told the pleasures of the evening were over.

Representative Quincy of this town, is making for himself a very creditable record. Under his leadership municipal woman suffrage has obtained in the House of Representatives the largest vote it has ever obtained in Massachusetts. The vote on Thursday was as follows, pairs included, 102 yeas to 122 nays.

The steady progress which this cause makes, although it seems but slowly to advance, is shown in the following tabulated statement of the votes on this bill in the years as below:

| YEAS                 | NAYS |
|----------------------|------|
| The vote in 1854, 61 | 157  |
| " " 1855, 68         | 135  |
| " " 1856, 80         | 122  |
| " " 1857, 86         | 122  |

The above figures carry their own road, and prove the inevitable tendency.

Connecticut Lawmakers.

HARTFORD, Ct., March 9, 1887. The temperance element scored a victory in the Connecticut Legislature today. It appears that there has been much opposition to the country towns where liquor selling is prohibited under the state local option law that druggists sell liquor freely on a physician's prescription, not only once, but as often as the physician prescribes it. This practically nullifies the prohibition vote of the town, as a resident can get all the liquor he wants the year around by merely taking the trouble of securing a prescription from a doctor. This state of affairs led to the introduction of a bill this session prohibiting druggists from making more than a single sale on a liquor prescription. The bill which was quite right enough, was reported favorably, but when it came up in the House today an amendment was offered that such sale should not be made unless, in the judgment of the druggist, the liquor is to be used for medicinal purposes, and not as a beverage. The House wrangled over this amendment for an hour, and finally adopted it, 104 to 101, and passed the bill as amended.

BRASS BAND.

We learn that twenty or more young men, strictly temperate, desirous of securing good musicians, have formed a brass band in the centre of the city. They have held two or three meetings, elected president, vice president, secretary and treasurer; and have secured the services of Mr. Francis P. Lord, as their teacher and band master. A description paper is being circulated to aid them in procuring instruments. We hope the project will meet with encouragement as Quincy needs a good band on many occasions.

STATE DIRECTORS. Governor Ames on Wednesday nominated for state directors in the Quincy railroad: Messrs. John Fitch Adams of Quincy, David P. Kimball of Boston and James Renwick, Jr., of Adams. The Council has confirmed the nominations.

A WORD TO THE SMOKERS OF QUINCY. Prepare yourself to receive the best cigar ever offered to the trade for so little money. It will arrive about April 1st, and then we will tell you all about it, and where you can find it.

QUINCY POINT.

PERSONAL.

"By a vote of the tobacco trade of Quincy, Mr. Albert W. Arnold of the firm of Henry K. Terry & Co., London, Eng., agents for Allen & Ginter, was decided to be the most eligible salesman in the business." The above clipping will be read with interest by many in this section of the town, where Mr. Arnold, a former Neck resident, is so well remembered.

Mr. George A. Sidelinger was hurt quite seriously on Tuesday by running a pair of scissors into his hand; he will be unable to use it for some time.

Mr. Eben Adams has been confined to the house for a week by illness, he is now improving and will probably be out before long.

At a meeting held last Friday night at the Church, it was voted to ask Rev. Charles W. Williams to reconsider his resignation. Mr. Williams has not yet given his answer.

Mr. Nathaniel Hunt was chosen collector of taxes for the town of Braintree over the other candidates.

Miss Etta Mathews, of Waltham was the guest of Mr. D. Howard Bills last week.

The members of the Y. M. S. U. Club with young lady friends, were entertained by W. F. Sidelinger at his home on South street, last Thursday evening. The members participated in a debate. Subject, "Resolved that John Brown's cause was right," gained by the affirmative side—prize a lot of cake. Miss Cora Newcomb gave a recitation. Supper was then served, after which the time was pleasantly spent till "good byes or good mornings" were in order.

The temperance speakers, at the union meeting held at the Congregational Church last Sunday evening, were entertained by W. F. Sidelinger at his home on South street, last Thursday evening. The attendance was small on account of the storm.

Mr. Charles H. Sherburne was again chosen deacon for three years, to fill a vacancy in the board of officers of the Congregational Church at a meeting held on Thursday evening.

Master Joseph L. Whiton, Jr., has been quite ill for a fortnight, but is now more comfortable.

FAIR.

The Ladies' Aid Society connected with the Congregational Church, held its annual fair for four nights the coming week, commencing next Tuesday evening. A good entertainment will be furnished each night; competent committees having the same in charge. The fair is a worthy one, successful in securing good talent, some local and more from out of town, who will undoubtedly draw full houses. A hot supper will be furnished every evening at 6.30 o'clock. The first ice cream and cake each night. The usual attractions will be found and novelties never before known.

E. M. F.

MILTON.

The young people will give an entertainment, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, and readings; in the East Milton Congregational Church next Monday evening.

Dr. John Littlefield was chosen Moderator at the annual town meeting. There was a sharp contest for Selectmen, which however, resulted in the re-election of the old board, Messrs. J. Walter Bradley, T. Edwin Brooks, and A. B. Bradley.

The office of road commissioners was abolished, and the auditors' report was accepted. The following appropriations were made: General expenses, $65,000; highways, $10,000; schools, $10,000; and books, $200; cemetery, $200; Public Library, $1700 and dog tax; fire department, $2000; for H. F. Wolcott, post 102, G. A. R., $175; for repairs on North and Centre schoolhouses, $1000; for a road from Canton avenue and School street, to Central avenue and Maple street, $500; for enforcement of the liquor law, $500; for purchasing, equipping and locating a steam fire engine, $15,000 (referred to a committee of seven).

Mr. W. H. Ripley was appointed, with instructions to investigate the feasibility of supplying the town with a permanent water supply and sewerage system, and $1000 was appropriated for their use. One hundred dollars was appropriated to locate a fire alarm box on Granite place.

The Selectmen were elected as surveyors of highways and instructed to employ a superintendent.

The vote on the license question was almost unanimously against it. The collector of taxes was authorized to receive, if means to save treasurer as collector may be used, and 6 per cent. was the rate fixed for unpaid taxes; $2500 was appropriated for arranging and publishing a history of the town. It was voted not to build a new schoolhouse in the north district.

The board of health were chosen a committee of vaccination. Arts. 22 and 27 were indefinitely postponed. It was voted that all works and improvements on the highways for the ensuing year be done by residents of the town.

WOLLASTON.

Postmaster Bass, in seeking to obtain better mail facilities for Wollaston, has secured a number of small and another larger mail. Mails now close at 8.15 and 10.50 A.M., and 5.35 P.M.; arrive at 7.10 and 10.20 A.M., and 4.37 P.M. The new arrangement went into effect Thursday, and the extra mails carried considerable matter.

The election of Mr. J. R. Masters of Wollaston, will run J. Leach, an ex-champion of England for $100 a year.

Miss Virginia Dux gave a very interesting talk on woman among the Mormons of Utah, at the Congregational Church Wednesday evening.

Although measles, scarlet fever and other diseases may rage elsewhere, Wollaston has only the measles, which continues to spread with rapidity.

Wonder if President Cleveland will beat the record with his new Trotter?

About half a hundred people assembled at the Congregational Church on Sunday evening to listen to the persuasive eloquence of the temperance orators. The speeches were interesting and the speakers deserved a much larger audience. Atlantic did more than twice as well—in point of number—than we have had about the worst weather of the season this week, but then the month is marching right along.

Deacon Gannett has been quite ill, but is improving.

A "union" society is to be held at the M. E. Church next Wednesday evening. The Baptist and Congregationalist societies uniting with the Methodist. A "free" supper will be served at the usual hour by the latter society. There will be an entertainment.

Small congregations at the churches last Sunday.

Wollaston Land Company's stock is booming.

On account of the storm last Sunday the communion service at the M. E. Church was postponed till next Sunday.

The Congregational Society prepared a rich treat for Thursday evening—an old fashioned supper and concert. The interesting musical concert, which many may stay away, and these missed at toothsome supper and a pleasing entertainment.

Many ladies appeared with powdered heads, old-style dresses with mutton-leg sleeves, kerchiefs, false collars, etc., etc., viz.: Mrs. Nickerson, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. McCintock, Mrs. Brazier, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. Weston, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Osmond, Miss Lincoln and Miss Adams. On the tables were spread an abundance of those old reliable dishes, beans, succotash, boiled dinner, Indian pudding, pumpkin, squash and other pies, doughnuts, etc., and the by gone candle light on the occasion. The concert programme included an instrumental duet by Miss Minnie Prescott and Miss Nellie Foster; reading by Miss Emma Osmond; song by Miss Alice Prescott; vocal quartette by Mrs. Weston, Mrs. Nickerson, Miss Alice Prescott, and Messrs. Farnsworth and Wright; declamation by Rev. B. R. Sherman; instrumental quartette, Messrs. Sherman, Emerson and Faunce, and Miss Lincoln; and concluded with selections by an old folks choir of twenty, accompanied by bass viol and other fine pieces.

CONVENTION.

A convention of the Prohibitionists of Norfolk County, will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, Hyde Park, on Tuesday, March 15th. Sessions at 2 and 7.20 P. M.

The following named gentlemen have been invited to present and address the convention—J. M. Fisher, Esq., of Attleboro, Geo. W. Pennington, State Organizer; Geo. Kempton, Editor of Public Good; Rev. F. Woods of Hyde Park; Rev. C. Stover, of Franklin; Rev. D. N. Griffin, of West Medway; Rev. G. L. Kenna, of Norwood, and others.

All friends of the cause, irrespective of sex, are cordially invited to be present. The afternoon will be devoted to business. In the evening a public meeting will be held.

It is anticipated that this convention will be one of the best ever held by the Prohibitionists of the County.

WEST QUINCY.

West Quincy secured two out of the three Selectmen, Messrs. Ripley and Eaton. Although the former was scratched by many of his own party, his popularity was sufficient among the people at large, so that he received a handsome plurality over all candidates.

The No-luncheon meeting in Farnum's Hall last Sunday evening was largely attended and the advertised speakers addressed the people.

ATLANTIC.

PERSONAL.

The annual reunion of the Quincy School Alumni Association, at the school house next Wednesday evening, promises to be largely attended, and like all meetings of old school mates to be a pleasant gathering.

The estate of the late Horace Jenkins is advertised for sale or to let.

There was a full attendance at the no-luncheon meeting at the Memorial church on Sunday evening. The advertised speakers addressed the meeting, and singing enlivened the occasion.

The funeral services of the late William Moody occurred Sunday, being largely attended by neighbors and relatives. Rev. F. L. Bristol, officiated.

Mrs. William J. Young, nee Sarah R. Moore, visited her uncle, Mr. Peter Howell on Thursday, and while playing with an dog, of which she has always made considerable, the animal suddenly snapped at and bit her under the left eye, inflicting a bad wound.

Mrs. F. L. Bristol is confined to the house by illness, and Mr. Cyrus Noble with pneumonia.

Mr. Andrew Johnson of this place received a severe cut over the left eye about six o'clock last Saturday evening by jumping from a train before it had stopped. It rendered him unconscious. He is improving.

The election of Mr. Thomas Gurney on the school board on Monday, generally the people of North Quincy, please. Pre-eminently fitted for the position he will do honor to the school.

Atlantic has not been a representative on the committee for ten years, the term of the late William B. Duggan expiring in 1877. The new incumbent has "shouted" the "boys", and the teachers did not have to "whistle for a treat."

Perhaps the happiest man in Atlantic on the election is, however, Capt. "Nate" Gleason. Although defeated for constable, company, he rejoices that they were unable to defeat the Selectmen and thereby the Engineers who created the new company.

The lecture in the course on Tuesday evening was very interesting, and the entertainment for the coming Tuesday promises to be fully as enjoyable.

The Memorial Congregational Church held its annual fair Wednesday evening, choosing the following officers—Moderator, Rev. F. L. Bristol; clerk, E. H. Wade; treasurer, E. R. Wade; auditor, Jacob Kohl; deacon for two years, E. R. Wade; collector, Cephas Drew; solicitors, Miss Mary H. Enos, Mrs. E. R. Wade, C. E. Sweet, Mrs. E. A. Richardson and C. E. Swett; Messrs. A. A. Richardson and Pastor, Clerk and Deacons, ex-officio, and Messrs. L. D. Brown, H. L. Hallett and Jacob Kohl.

Fair Play.

The Republican Caucus gave Mr. Marcus E. Wright the third largest vote cast for any candidate. By the withdrawal of Mr. Ripley's name, it became necessary to substitute Mr. H. O. Souther, who though he failed to gain the caucus nomination received the largest number of votes of any of the defeated candidates.

Those who had charge of the printing of the ballots placed Mr. Wright's name the last on the ticket, and gave Mr. Souther's a much more conspicuous position. This made a great difference in the vote polled for Mr. Wright on Monday; the result would undoubtedly have been different if his name had been given its proper position. Mr. Wright reluctantly allowed his name to be used on the contestable fair, at the caucus this year, but, having received the nomination, desired fair play.

A GREAT MAN GONE. The illustrious divine, Henry Ward Beecher, died Tuesday morning in his native town in Brooklyn, N. Y., of paralysis after a short illness of five days. In the death of this noted preacher the world loses one of its greatest pulpit orators. He always displayed a naturalness that was exceeded by no other, and his power of illustration was wonderful, his subject always being presented to his hearers in language clear and forcible. His funeral took place at Plymouth church on Thursday, but the body lay in state until Friday night when the burial which was to be private took place. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers instead of the emblems of mourning. Mr. Beecher always being averse to black.

To be more lenient with nature's request.
"Please don't light the candles just yet,"
"What made you bring me here anyway?"
"I'm not fit to breathe the same air as you."

"Rose, you trust me," Beatrice spoke with quick, sharp intonation, "that the other did not understand. She proceeded more gently. "Do you think me so forgetful, ungrateful? Was there any question about breathing the same air when your mother sent you with food and medicine
when we were all down with the small pox? I lie awake now sometimes thinking of those dreary days and nights and faster lying dead and not a soul outside your family would venture near our home-
some house over the river."

Beatrice's voice faltered with the recollection of her childhood's misery in her Nova Scotia home.

"Oh, Rose! you have done nothing that can cancel your claim on me," she said earnestly.

her old friend and entered a street car with her.

The imprisoned breath of the flowers flashed to meet them as Beatrice opened the door of her room and drew Rose inside.
It touched the cheek and lip of the outcast tenderly and clung softly to her faded garments. "We will drown their voices," Beatrice thought grimly. The light from the street revealed the shadowy furniture and gilded picture frames. Rose shrank within herself in the atmosphere of purity. "Please don't light the candles just yet," she pleaded, shrinking into a corner.

in the past, and more especially tonight."
"Was a poor preparation to be denied him? He was already reaping of the bitterness he had sown."

"You are not sorry you found out the truth?" Rose questioned after he had gone. You would not want to marry Beatrice started. "I should never have married him," she said absently.
"Can it be possible he was offering her such a portion as mine?" Rose thought in silent wonder.

Beatrice had the side room fitted up for Rose. Every day a present of fruit and flowers and other luxury was sent to the house, the donor of which it was easy to guess.

On a sweet spring day the bruised life went out into the mystical beyond, and a little later Beatrice received a check to cover all expenses, with a note from Richard begging her not to refuse it.

"Why should I refuse?" Beatrice thought, wearily. "I have not proved my own weakness? Is it for me to judge my neighbor?" * * But to Beatrice there comes always on the breath of the criminal classes, but children who
of brief love dream and the eleventh hour awakening, a memory which after years of wifehood and motherhood will never efface.

Home Wanted for Children.
The Sisters of Charity of the Home for Destitute Catholics, Boston, ask us to inform our readers that there are over 200 little boys and girls in that institution, of from 3 to 12 years of age, for whom they desire to find homes in Catholic families in the country. These little ones are bright, intelligent, healthy, and are not children of
the criminal classes, but children who have been deprived of their parents or relations through death or misfortune.

The conditions upon which these children are placed into families are very simple, a recommendation from the resident priest, and a guarantee to the Home that they will be kindly treated, and attend church and school regularly. Charitable persons wishing to provide for any of these poor children are invited to address the Home for DESTITUTE CATHOLIC CHILDREN, HAR-VARD STREET, BOSTON.

Co-Operative Housekeeping.
Co-operative housekeeping, which has failed so often in more ambitious hands, is quiet way, in a New York tenement house, it started with a little woman who had tended a glove counter until she became the wife of a horse-car conductor. Like other poor people she bought groceries by the pound half price, and could by the scale. She saw that buying in this way meant paying high prices, and she persuaded the inmates of the tenement-house to club together and buy their stores in large quantities. In buying for the club, they saved about one-third of the cost. Six of the women have now clubbed together
and hired a woman to wash and iron for them, while they take in tailoring or do other work; and they have some thoughts of trying a co-operative kitchen. Who knows but that these women may become the Pioneers of co-operative housekeeping?

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is always to be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposure, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pain in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I concluded to suffer with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was March.

March! you blundering, slow lout!

What are you doing? Where do you stay?

Winter is flying in broken array;

Comel bid her whirr to the right about;

Get the fields ready for April and May.

Thaw the ice from the frozen rill.

Blow the clouds to their proper places;

Gather the strong winds loud and shrill.

To dry the marsh and to clear the hill.

For Spring to display her airs and graces!

Awkward you are and sharp, no doubt;

Still are we glad to see you near.

With cheek so ruddy and eye so clear.

With lusty humor and joyful shout,

Calling for all to the Summer to hear.

Rough as your clumsy tongue may be,

It fringes the tangles of alder and larch;

Your jolly, gruff laughter rings merry and arch;

You are the sort of a fellow for me,

Come from your hiding place! Forward, March!

Hens and Pullets.

Pullets will generally lay more eggs than hens. Hence the very frequent advice to kill off old hens each year and keep only the young, is followed to a great extent.

This advice is no doubt very valuable to those who intend to raise and market hens

only.

A two-year-old or a three-year-old hen

will probably lay a smaller number of eggs,

but it is very difficult to find a hen of less weight of eggs. Each egg will be larger than those laid by her in the first season,

but the smallness of the number will be offset by the greater size. These larger eggs are more suitable for hatching. The hen is fully matured, she is in robust health,

she has her full strength, and the chicks

from her eggs will inherit from her these characteristics. There being in the egg a greater quantity of white out of which the chick is formed, and also a larger amount of yolk upon which its life in the shell is supported, the chick will be larger when hatched and possess more vitality, and its chances of surviving the ills of chickenhood will be correspondingly brighter. To insure a good growth there is nothing like having a good start. This increased vigor and size at the start will follow the chick

all through its course, and the matured

fowl will be larger and stronger thereby.

It is the practice of a well-known breeder of light Braams to keep over, year after year, his strong, robust hens. So long as they lay eggs enough to produce a good brood of chicks they are considered worthy of preservation. This breeder's strain of light Braams is noted for its great size, and while it may well be doubted if it would be generally profitable to keep hens until they are five or six years old, it would be profitable to follow his example to the extent of only breeding from matured hens.

It is not to be denied that pullets often prove fine breeders, especially where they were hatched early the previous year, but probably these same pullets would prove

still better breeders if used for that purpose

the following year. It is reasonable to expect that such should be the fact, and the observation and experience of poultry breeders generally will tend to prove that is the fact. The wise breeder will not kill off all his old hens, but will retain the best of them for the choicest breeding purposes, and reserve them for breeders when they are two and three years old. He will practice what he preaches, and his text will be,

"Pullets for layers old hens for breeders,"

and strong chicks as the natural outcome."

"Durgin &amp; Merrill's Block."

We have taken occasion before to speak of the enterprise of Messrs. A. G. Durgin and John F. Merrill in erecting the new brick block now nearly completed on Hancock street, and hope it is but the beginning of the rebuilding of the "Square." For years the business section of Quincy has been inferior and far behind the growth in population and wealth of the town. A considerable part of it was and is owned by wealthy residents, but they have continued to patch up their bygone building and it was left for far-sighted business men to take the initiative.

The new block which the owners have decided to name the "Durgin & Merrill's block," is of brick, with two stories, and contains, 2x75, and three stories high, and certainly reflects credit upon the owners, contractors and the town. The architect was Mr. E. N. Boyden of Boston; the contractor, S. A. Sewall of Natick; the interior work was by C. B. Hutton of Quincy; the plastering by Harkins Bros. of Quincy; and the plumbing by I. N. Tucker of Boston.

The whole building is to be heated by steam, and the sanitary arrangement is of the best and complete. The laboratories have tiled floors, as does also the vestibule of the first floor.

The three stories on the ground-floor are spacious and grand. The plate glass windows of each are seven feet square. They are to be occupied respectively by J. F. Merrill, groceries; Safford & Very, clothing; and A. G. Durgin, druggist, and will be spoken of more at length below.

The stairway to the floors above is between the last two stories. On the second floor are eleven offices finished in white wood and then stained, each having hand pine floors. They will be occupied as follows:—No. 1, by Lunt & Patch, insurance agents; No. 2, by J. J. Malone, Esq., counsel-at-law; Nos. 3 and 4, by the Quincy Water Company; Nos. 5 and 6, by Dr. C. T. Sherman, dentist; Nos. 7, 8 and 9, by Mr. A. W. Hayden, dressmaker; while 10 and 11 are to be left.

On the third floor are twelve rooms finished like those on the second. Rooms 12 and 13 are to be occupied by the school committee; room 16, by Mr. Edwin L. Forrester, granite agent; rooms 17, 18 and 19, by the Quincy associates; room 21, by the Granite Contractors; while the others are to be left.

MERRILL'S NEW STORE.

The new store of J. F. Merrill will be opened a week from today, and will be one of the most attractive and convenient grocery stores in the city, not excepting those of Boston. The main store will be 75 feet long and 22½ feet wide, and 12½ feet high. In each of the three front windows will be panes of plate glass seven feet square with small panes above. The fixtures are of solid oak, and the interior is of counters, thirty inches with roll top covers, and an abundance of drawers and shelves; a large built-in refrigerator, a cheese case, and a pork and lamb stand. A water motor has been introduced to grind the coffee; Lamson's cash register system will be employed; Fairbanks' floor scales 3000 pounds capacity have been put in, and also a large display case for the sale of the goods. The store is a large store, and underneath the whole is a large cellar with a cemented bottom, a very handy and essential thing in a first-class grocery. The cashier's desk and Mr. Merrill's private office are well equipped and lighted. Large mirrors will add to the attractiveness of the store which is to be stocked with a large fresh supply.

SAFFORD &amp; VERY'S.

The Quincy One Price Clothing Store is not far enough advanced to allow of a description. But it is safe to say it will be richly furnished. This firm has met with good success since opening in town, and with a more central and attractive store, it can better display its large stock of ready-made clothing and gentlemen's furnishings goods.

DECHEN'S PHARMACY.

From a small beginning several years ago in Quincy the drug business of A. G. Durgin has grown rapidly. From the little store on Chestnut street he sought larger quarters in the Robertson block, and now he has nearly completed a much more commodious pharmacy, which for attractiveness and finish has few equals among the retail drug stores of the city. The main store is 22½ by 48. The floor is of white tile and the ceiling is of plaster. The counter is of mahogany and the shelves are of mahogany. The store is a large store, and underneath the whole is a large cellar with a cemented bottom, a very handy and essential thing in a first-class grocery.

THE OLD COLONY RAILROAD.

SUPPLEMENT.

The Quincy Patriot.

Salaries in Small Cities.

An idea of what it will cost Quincy when she becomes a city for municipal officers, can be formed by the salaries voted in Brockton, on March 7.

Mayor, $1000; City Clerk, $1500; Tax Collector, four mills on the dollar on the amount collected; City Marshal, $1500, without fees; regular patrolmen, $850; special patrolmen, 50 cents per hour of service; City Solicitor, $500; night patrolmen attending morning court, 50 cents per hour; City Messenger, $250; Superintendent of Streets, $1000; member of the Board of Water Commissioners, attending to outside duties, $1000; Clerk of Water Commissioners, collecting water rents, $750; Clerk of Overseers of the Poor, $500; clerk hire for both offices, $300; for other members of the Water Commission, 30 cents per hour; City Engineer, $1000; Assistant Assessors, 30 cents per hour; City Physician, $500;—to furnish medicine; Board of Health, 30 cents per hour of service; election officers, 30 cents per hour; Clerk of Common Council, $100; members of the Board of Registrars, 35 cents per hour; Chief Engineer of Fire Department, $500; first assistant, $200; Superintendent of Fire Alarm and Engineer of Steamer No. 1, $850 each; permanent men at Central Station, $530; person having charge of station, and engineer of Steamer No. 4, $775 each; engineer of Steamer No. 2, $100; firemen Steamer No. 2, $50; like offices on other steamers, same salary. The salaries of the City Treasurer and City Auditor were not decided upon. The salaries of the "call" men of the Fire Department and the special fire police was referred to the City Committee on Fire Department to be reported later.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY. Wherever a son or daughter of the Emerald Isle finds a home, there will the Cross and the Shamrock be revered and treasured, and the memory of the great patron saint be honored. Ireland has been aptly termed the "Land of Saints," and her scattered children have carried with them the faith of St. Patrick to almost every part of the habitable globe. Their first and foremost missionary was born at Holy Tours, in that district of France which is now called Brittany. Pope Celestine selected him as an instrument for the conversion of Ireland; the work went on apace. An intense religious enthusiasm was immediately awakened. The Druid altars were deserted for Catholic shrines, and the magnificent spectacle was presented of an entire nationality transformed at once from paganism to Christianity. St. Patrick died in Downpatrick Co., A. D. 462, at the advanced age of 122 years—61 of which he had spent in Ireland. His remains, with those of St. Bridget and St. Columkille, are deposited in an urn in the cathedral of Down. The anniversary of his death falls on the 17th of March.

THEY'VE SPRUNG THE TRAP. The Milford Journal says:—Up in New Hampshire the state fire insurance companies have advanced their rates from 25 to 100 per cent. Under the law made a year or so since, foreign combinations are prohibited from raising rates, but the state companies are left unscathed, and so have very generously concluded to spring the grab trap, illustrating to the people the truth of the saying about "jumping from the frying-pan into the fire."

CONSTANT ATTENTION. The Milford Journal says, "The Faxon tree in Quincy seems to bear an abundance of fruit." Constant attention does the work. Scolded as the trees as well watered and looked after as the one in Quincy. Few men can do so much for temperance, even if they devote their whole time to the subject, as Mr. Faxon does, notwithstanding his immense real estate business.

The state board of arbitration want manufacturers and business men to join the K. of L. along with their workmen, and by mutual discussion arrive at a better understanding of the questions constantly arising.

The carpenters of Massachusetts will hold a big demonstration in Boston, March 28th. The meeting will take place in Faneuil Hall.

The President has appointed Charlton H. Way of Georgia, to be Consul-general to St. Petersburg.

The first country to issue stamps for cheap postage was Great Britain—in 1840. An unused one is worth $300. The rarest postage stamp known to collectors was issued by the postmaster at Brettleboro in 1840.

FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT.
Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, March 21st, 1887.

It is now the belief of many leading men of the Democratic party, some of whom are occasionally called to the White House for counsel and advice, that the president will ask the Fiftyeth Congress to convene in extra session early in October. If he does, there are several reasons that will prompt the unpopular step.

It is a well known fact that Congress scarcely ever does anything like real work until after the holiday recess. It goes without saying also that the two great parties in Congress will be surcharged with politics next year, and that their time will be largely devoted to President making. So, unless some of the important legislation to come before it, can be matured at an earlier day than the course of the regular session would make possible, there would be but little hope for its success.

The experience of the past two winters in Congress has shown very clearly that the interests of the country have become altogether too vast and complicated to be thoroughly looked after and kept up within the time afforded by the regular sessions. Much of the first, or the long session as it is usually called, is devoted to the formulation of business for the second or short session, and the business thus deferred from one year to another—in many cases business of the most urgent importance—is hurled into the whirl of the last ten days or two weeks of Congress, to be but half done, or badly done or not done at all.

Some idea of the manner in which the Forty-Ninth Congress wound up its work may be found in the declaration of a member of long experience that the record revealed the fact that one-quarter of the legislation of the session had been enacted in the last six legislative days. An enrolling clerk of twelve years of service said that never in that length of time had he witnessed the haste exhibited in the last twenty-four hours of the Congress which has just expired.

During the recess of the upper House, for the Senate, which only renews one-third of itself biennially, is a perennially organized body and goes on forever, some of the Senators will go to Europe. Mr. Ingalls, of Kansas, the newly elected President of the Senate, says he is not one of those who can indulge in such a luxury; however, when asked if he proposed to spend the summer abroad, he replied—not unless some good fairy pittingly puts money in my purse. He added that European pleasures called for more filthy lucre than he could command.

When some astonishment was expressed that the President of that great millionaires' club (the United States Senate) could not afford a trip across the Atlantic in these days of low prices and rapid transit, the Senator said it was the plain, unvarnished truth, and that there were quite a number of members of the millionaires' club in that predicament. He thinks a great deal of unnecessary nonsense is written about Senatorial exclusiveness and Senatorial wealth, and asserts that in reality a large majority of his confreres have nothing but their salaries to live on.

Senator Spooner is not too poverty stricken to plan a summer trip to Europe, however, and Senator Palmer, who is one of the undisputed possessors of millions, is so going to bring his invalid wife home. The latter has been called the philosophical millionaire, and is fond of talking epigrammatically of life and the uselessness of immense wealth. His Washington residence is one of the handsomest brown stone fronts in the city, but he says the happiest man is the one who has the most illusions. Speaking of his occasional trips abroad, he said he wanted to get all he could out of them before he got a bit older, for it took youth as well as money, to enjoy Europe or anything else.

The prominent business men of this city who are anxious to have a carnival here, after the National Drill, which is to take place in May, have been discussing details in regard to the scheme. At the recent Mar 1 Gras in New Orleans, the Knights of Momus and the Knights of Proteus were the organizations which made the finest display, and both are proposing to dispose of their outfits, which originally cost $20,000; cars and costumes at $5,000 and $6,000. Washington is disposed to hire instead of buying these trappings, as expense could be saved in that way, and it is held that a sum of $25,000 which will have to be raised by private subscription would be necessary to insure a creditable display. It was urged that if the carnival was not held this year it would not be possible to have it for four years. The Presidential campaign and the inauguration would give all the displays needed for two years, and the Knights Templar conclave would fill up the third season.

ADAMS.
The wages of the engineers and firemen employed by the New England road are to be increased 25 per cent.

Brooklyn Bridge Lights.

There are few more conspicuous objects around New York at night than the brilliant arch of light on the Brooklyn Bridge. The people who use the promenade of the bridge at night, and admire the lights which make everything nearly as bright as day give little thought to the means employed in keeping them running. On the stormiest nights the lights must burn as well as in fair weather and there must be somebody to take care of them.

Four men are employed at this work every night, and rarely a quarter of an hour passes without their being at work. It is a perilous employment and needs a good head and a steady arm. There is some danger from the electric current, as a single shock would be certain death. The men wear heavy rubber gloves to protect them from the rubber being one of the best of insulators. The hours of work are from 6 P. M. to 7 A. M.

The lights on the bridge are 86 in number and are run by two Corliss engines of 45-horse power each. Only one is kept running, the other being for use in case of accidents. The current is generated by four 20-light machines. Every other lamp is on a different circuit, so that if one half of the lights go out from some cause, the others will be kept burning. The lamps are known as double lamps, there being two sets of carbons. Each set lasts eight hours. At first there was difficulty with the insulation, as the wires were fastened to the girders. Now they are put upon outriggers and very little trouble is experienced.

Mr. Dunder Gets Two Bundles.

"Vas I arrested?" softly inquired Mr. Dunder as he leaned over Sergeant Benda's desk yesterday.

"Haven't heard of any such thing. What's the matter now?"

"Well, a few days ago a man mit a pundle comes in my place. Vas I Carl Dunder? I vas. Dot vas all right. He brings me dot package by express, and der sharge vas forty cents—sign your name here, und der express company vas not liable if goods be left more ash six mons, Sergeant?"

"Well?"

"What you s'pose vas in dat pundle?"

"Greenbacks."

"Humph! It vas a cobbler-shitone, und dot fellow shvindles me! I vas so madt I shump oder der pool table. I like to come and see you about it."

"Yes."

"Maybe I vas some lunatic, but I doan't believe him. In two days anoder man vhalks in mit a pundle. Vas I Carl Dunder? I vas. Dot vas all right. He brings me dot package, und der shange for five dollar."

"But you didn't pay?"

"Sergeant, I shump on dot man like a cow shump on a leadle sparrow, und in two minutes he vas sooch a licked feller dot his own mother doan tell who he vas. He beats dot pundle and crawls avhay, und when my wife comes home she says it vas some shirts for me dot she pay."

"No!"

"Dot vas it, Sergeant. I sent Shake to settle mit der feller for $25, but may pe he haf me arrested pesides."

"Singular," remarked the Sergeant after a painful silence.

"Vhell, it shtrikes me like dot, too. Dis vas a strange country. Nopody vas two times alike, und if you kick somepody it vas der man who doan deserve him. Good-bye, Sergeant, if some warrant come out for me and I vhash arrested I like you to be aroundt und say dot I vhash all o. k. und doan go to Shtate Prison for life."—Detroit Free Press.

It is proposed to build a Grant memorial bridge to connect Washington with the Virginian shore. In the plans drawn the towers of the middle span are higher than the others and are connected by archways in which it is designed to arrange a series of halls where the Grant memorials, paintings, etc., could be appropriately preserved.

PROPOSED CHESS ASSOCIATION. In response to a desire expressed by chess players in different parts of the State, the Boston Chess Club cordially invites those interested in chess to meet at the rooms of the club, 33 Pemberton square, on Fast Day, April 7, at 11 A. M. for the purpose of organizing a Massachusetts Chess Association.

SATURDAY, MAR. 26, 1887.

Rev. George B. Lawton.

Rev. George B. Lawton, who has just been called by the First Baptist Church of Brockton to the pastorate of its mission in Campello, is moving into the house next to that of ex-Mayor Keith. Mr. Lawton, owing to the death of his father, early had the care of a large family left on his shoulders. Owing to this affliction he, for the time being, gave up his intention of entering the ministry, left school and entered into business. In this he was successful, and was soon able to command a good salary. But he was not satisfied. Deep in his heart he cherished the conviction that he was called to the ministry. His business enabling him to do so, he pursued in connection with it a three years' theological course of study under one of the ablest men in the Baptist denomination, Rev. Dr. Upham.

Soon after the way opened for him to begin preaching at Quincy, while at the same time he attended to his business. At this time the Quincy church was in a bad way and had a miserable place in which to worship. Under his leadership and inspiration a good house of worship was built and the church put in the way of a new era of prosperity. About this time he received a call to Billerica that would enable him to give up his business and devote all his time to his chosen calling. Although the salary was considerably less than what he was earning in business, he decided to accept the call and give himself entirely to the work of the ministry. He had already been ordained, after having passed a very creditable examination. At Billerica he found a meeting house that was unfit for its purpose, and this he had remodelled into a thing of beauty. In these various building enterprises Mr. Lawton's business experience and capacity have proved of great advantage to the churches he has served.

But this has been by no means all of his work. He has shown himself a good minister, completely devoted to his work and ever ready to sacrifice himself. He is a man of good thought, of excellent address, genial and devoted. Campello is to be congratulated on securing such a man, and the Baptist Church is to be deemed specially fortunate in obtaining his services. It is expected that during the year this mission will become a regular church, and that they will at an early day enter upon the work of building a house of worship. In this work the experience of the new pastor will be of great value. It now looks as though a good Baptist Church in Campello was a certainty, as the other churches are full and the rapidly growing population contains many Baptists, and as they have both character and means it would seem as though this enterprise is as timely as it is commendable.—Brockton Daily Enterprise.

CRASH IN A CHURCH. A panic occurred at a Catholic Church in Chicago on the 17th inst. The church was crowded, and outside on the steps leading up to the church was a vast crowd unable to gain admittance. All at once there was a sharp crack, followed by a grinding crash, and fully 200 men, women and children were precipitated ten feet, the entire platform having given way. Twenty-three persons in all received more or less serious injuries.

ONE HUNDRED DAYS. Says the Concord Monitor of the 16th inst.: This day completes 100 consecutive days of sleighing, according to the record of Hon. W. L. Foster. It is an unusual period, and the sleighing has been uncommonly good for a large share of the time.

A FRIGHTENED MAN. A citizen of Ionia, Mich., rang the bell at a house when he called, and then stood patiently on the iron doorstep until the slow servant opened the door. Then he turned pale, and cried out that he was paralyzed; for when he tried to walk he could not move. He felt better as soon as he discovered that his wet boots had frozen to the iron step as he stood waiting.

A TINY SPECIMEN. Raymond Ferguson of Utica, Ind., is the father of a week-old baby that weighs just one pound. Its arms are three inches long; its legs four inches; it is well-formed and apparently healthy, and bids fair to live and grow. Its father and mother each weigh over 150 pounds.

SHOULD BE LICENSED. The Salvation Army at Nevada City, Cal., charge a small admission fee to their religious services in order to keep hoodlums out of their hall. They have now been required to pay for a license, the authorities holding that their prayer and praise meetings come under the head of "shows."

A FLORIDA CYCLONE. A cyclone swept through Tampa, March 17th, destroying several houses. Two children were killed, one woman was fatally injured and several persons were seriously hurt. The pecuniary loss was about $10,000.

THE FAT WOMAN. Hannah Battersby, the fattest woman in the world, brought it all on herself by eating sweets. For several years her average was a pound of candy per day, and it cost her several hundred dollars to get ready to be a museum subject.

Something for Nothing.

The great danger of the age is "an insane desire to get something for nothing," said Hon. Harrison Hume at the Ploughman meeting last Saturday, and his words were so true and so discriminating that we desire to emphasize them, as some agitators fail to distinguish between the ways of getting wealth. A newspaper clipping before us figures that a man who earns a dollar a day for three hundred working days in a year would have to work three hundred and thirty-three and one-third years to earn a million dollars, and concludes that it is therefore impossible for any one to become honestly a millionaire through the products of his own labor. This superficial figuring overlooks the fact that a man of brains may do such a great service for the world in directing the labors of others, in planning great enterprises, in inventing valuable articles, in the exercise of professional skill, as to be entitled to remuneration for his services which would seem almost fabulous when compared with the $1.00 a day standard. No one ought to grumble because a man gains a fortune by the invention of a telephone, by the discovery of a new principle of plant fertilization, or by consolidating weak railroads into a strong trunk line cheapening the sustenance of a nation. No one should grumble because a man who has given a lifetime to earnest study gets a large price for a painting, a poem, or legal opinion. The trouble and the danger arise from an "insane desire to get something for nothing," a strife to get rich without giving the world an equivalent, a scheming to accumulate money at the expense of other people, an acquiring property by gambling, speculation, squeezing out weak rivals, or selling watered stocks, a "cornering" the necessities of life, using official positions to manipulate stock, or by various other ways where no return is rendered for the money. Some communities are at fault by the way they toady to wealthy persons. How many places are there where a large bank account (no matter how gained,) will not introduce a person into social parlors which closed to culture and brains if wearing a seedy coat or a last year's gown? If any such there be let them reform themselves before finding fault with the tendencies of the time.—New England Farmer.

A WOMAN'S MOUTH. Singular to what varied uses a woman puts her mouth. While arranging her toilet it is made the repository for hair-pins. In shopping expeditions it is frequently used to hold coin while making change. In sewing it serves as a pin-cushion, thread-cutting, and the momentary receptacle for hooks and eyes, buttons and a score or more of other things nameless to man. There are other uses, too, when she is irritated.

The intimations of Railroad Commissioner Crocker to the contrary notwithstanding, the Engineering News has taken a course, in regard to the tin bridge, which bids fair to produce good results. Our scientific contemporary will be forgiven if it never does anything worse than capture fragments of an unsafe bridge for purposes of public exposure.—Boston Daily Globe.

POULTRY EXCHANGE. Steps have been taken in New York to organize a poultry exchange, where thoroughbred fowls of all kinds will be sold and where auctions of fowls will be held every week. It will be similar in character to the New York Horse Exchange, and will be a place where poultry breeders from all parts of the country can meet and discuss the state of trade and at the same time dispose of any stock they have for sale at the best advantage.

An exchange says: "One line in the printed report of the treasurer of Dummerston, Vt., reads—'Oct. 30, by one half-hogshead of Selectmen, $75.' We regret that the report does not tell how many selectmen there are in half a hogshead and why they sell them at so low a price."

A bill has been reported to the Legislature permitting women who are qualified to vote for school committee to also vote on the question of liquor licensing.

A New York society woman has ordered a coffin made for a dead parrot to be kept in her parlor. It is of rosewood, lined with white satin, and covered with plate glass, through which the parrot, properly prepared by a taxidermist is to be seen lying on its side.

ANCIENT TROUSSEAU. At a recent New York wedding the bride wore a wedding gown which was worn at a wedding in 1778, when Alexander Hamilton acted as groomsmen and Washington and his staff were present. The costumes of the bridesmaids were unique. They consisted of white woolen gown, high neck, and long sleeves, trimmed with swan's-down, and white hats, gypsy shape, and carried white muffs of swan's-down and long yellow cut-glass smelling bottles.

George H. Barney, of Hyde Park, succeeded in making 4,758 words from the sentence, "Who will be our next President?" He completely exhausted Worcester and Webster, and the Gazette says he deserves "a liberal reward."

CANNED TOMATOES. Of 3,000,000 cases of canned tomatoes, the reported product of the tomato canning business in the United States last year, more than seven hundred thousand cases were put up in New Jersey.

The Governor and council have ordered the discharge of Charles F. Freeman, the Pocasset murderer, from the Danvers Asylum, his sanity having been fully established.

Temperance in a Snow-drift.

Rev. Anne H. Shaw writes a letter from Minnesota on the train "stuck in a snow-drift," fifteen miles from Farmington, where she was to speak. A gentleman, who had heard her speak at Austin, asked her if she would address them on the train while they were waiting to be dug out. She complied with the request and spoke half an hour on the great good travelling men and railroad men can do for temperance and society in the White Cross Movement. Miss Shaw says she had a very attentive audience.

WHO MOSES WAS. A few days ago one of the teachers in a school not far from St. Paul was telling the children about Pharaoh's daughter finding the babe in the bulrushes.

"Now, children," said she, "how many of you know anything about Moses?" Only one hand went up.

"That's right, Jimmy, I'm glad to see there's one in the school who has heard of him before. Now who was Moses?"

"He's the feller who they wanted to know where he was when the light went out," exclaimed Jimmy with great gusto.

That ended the Bible lesson for that day.

NOT TOO MUCH TO ASK. Tramp (whose request for food has been denied): "Well, madam, would you let me sleep in the ten-acre lot back of the barn if I don't make any noise?"

Woman: "Yes, I don't mind lettin' ye do that."

Tramp (appealingly): "Well, one thing more, ma'am, before I say good night. Would you have me called at 7 sharp. I want to catch the limited cattle train West."

AN OLD LADY'S STORY. Boston, you know, is great on bicycle riders. An old lady from a remote country district was there last week, and when she returned home she told a wonderful story regarding the precocity of the boys there. She said she came across one who did not look to be more than 12 years of age who had a full grown mustache and side whiskers. She said he was dressed like a boy, acted like a boy and had a tin whistle in his hand. It was useless to argue with her, and she will go down to her grave believing that she has seen a youth who ought to be placed on exhibition in a circus.—New York Graphic.

F. J. FULLER, PROP.
West Quincy, Mass.

ONE of the oldest and most reliable firms
in the Granite business, and the only one that can furnish the finest quality of Granite work that can be produced. Our facilities are such that we can furnish all work in this line at the lowest prices. Being the entire owner of one of the oldest Dark Blue Granite Quarries in Quincy, Mass., our Quarry has a reputation for work done about one hundred and fifty feet below the surface of the earth, and the granite that we obtain is of a rich color and polish longer than any other Dark Blue Granite that is now being quarried in New England, and with our constantly improving machinery, we do not believe that we can be equaled in the quality of our work.

All our stock is carefully selected from the quarries, and as the most skilled workmen are employed to execute the work, we are willing to guarantee entire satisfaction in all cases before the work is accepted. Persons wishing to purchase any Granite Monument, Table, etc., will find it decidedly in their interest to communicate with us, so for any information, or to see our large supply of designs, which we will furnish for the inspection of our patrons.

Persons can order work of us at much less expense than elsewhere, and we will guarantee that our work will be of the best quality. We will guarantee our work to be of the best quality, and we will guarantee our work to be of the best quality. We will guarantee our work to be of the best quality, and we will guarantee our work to be of the best quality.

We make a specialty of all kinds of BUILDING WORK,
and can supply any demand at short notice.
Also Polished Columns of all sizes for building
and other architectural purposes.

We furnish large quantities of Granite Paving, and are prepared to supply the same to corporations to supply the same or to contract and pave streets.

Thankful for the liberal patronage which we have received during the last ten years, we expect a continuance of the same and respectfully solicit your orders.

There were sharp words that morning, and not at all creditable to the young members of the family.
Glenn held out his cup and saucer,
both of which had been duly painted and baked, until they looked duly antiquated—held them out across the short way of the table to his sister.
"Another sip of coffee, if you please, Helly," he said. "And see here, Helly, don't look at the sugar you put in it."
"What are you talking about?" demanded his sister testily. "She was suspicious of some covert, unpleasantness in the quiet words. "What do you mean? Why shouldn't I look at the sugar?"
"Because," said the non-committal
Glenn.
"Because what?" Helly asked, with some asperity. "Why don't you tell me? Why shouldn't I look at your sugar?"
"Because you might change it into something sour?"
"What a rich joke!" she said, turning up her nose, with all her other features pinched. "You just the same as didn't get up at all this morning. It's nearly eleven o'clock. And now I have to sit here and pour your coffee, when I promised the girls that I'd help decorate the hall for the festival."
"Why didn't you tell me this sooner?"
Glenn said, deliberately sipping his coffee.
"What good would forty tellings have done?" Helly snapped. "I should have had to wait and get your coffee all the same. You would have gone with your morning snapping.
Mamma just makes a baby of you! She puts you till you can't sit up. If I don't get up at family breakfast, I have to take just anything I can find in the pantry, while you can sleep till eleven,
and get up to fresh coffee and hot quail and waffles, and everything nice,
and I have to stay and watch you eat.
You great baby! Mamma won't let me sit out of the house till you are breakfasted. You tyrannize over me through Mamma."
She paused, when Glenn made no reply, continued, "I wouldn't mind it if you worked at night, like railroad men and telegraph boys and night editors and doctors. But you don't do a lick of work, night or day. You just sit up with that girl of yours, I know."
Glenn looked at her in a solemn way
but said nothing.
"I wish you were going to get married to her right away," Helly went on. "But I'd pity your wife!"
As Glenn was leisurely folding his napkin, their cousin Betty, entered, in a rushing way, crying out,
"Is this the way you help decorate the hall? You promised to come for me by nine o'clock. I've waited and waited and waited. Sister Anna's been out to the gate forty times to see if you were coming, and she's been in the east window twice forty times.
It's a fact. I've just haunted that window, so that mother couldn't see me now, because I was in her light all the time, and she scolded me about it. And all our folks got vexed at me, and called me a bidget, and it's all on your account, Helly, and I think it's a shame for you—"
"I think it's a shame for you to chatter
at this rate!" interrupted the irritable Helly. Betty's talk ceased her like pin-prickings on an already nettled surface. "You always were a rattle-box. You can talk longer without saying anything than anyone I ever knew."
At this Betty's face flushed in sudden resentment.
"Come, Helly, you're carrying things a little too far," said Glenn.
"Don't let her make speeches here, Helly."
"I don't mean to let them hurt me.
I always consider the source from which a thing comes," answered Betty, pointing at Helly and smiling at Glenn.
"I'll go to the hall, and tell the girls that Helly is too cross for any use in the world; that she would rather wither
the flowers if she were to try to help us make wreaths. Come on, Glenn, You're going my way."
She hooked her arm in his, and off they started, chatting and laughing as if there wasn't any teased Helly to care for. Their nonchalant way made Helly madder. Beside, Betty should not have the last word.
"I'm glad you're going," Helly
muttered, "and I hope you'll never
come here again."
"Then you'll never come again," Helly said quickly, her temper rising
every moment.
"Why, Helly!" Glenn remonstrated.
"You forget yourself."
"No, I do not forget myself," she
quickly interposed.
"You owe Betty an apology," Glenn
continued.
"Then I owe something that I'll never pay," Helly retorted, with promptness. "But I do not owe her
an apology. She owes me an apology."
"I'm sure I've nothing to apologize
for!" Betty said, tossing her head.
"The idea of my apologizing, when
she has been saying such rude things!
Come along Glenn!"
Helly heard the front door close on

have the last word.
"I'm glad you're going," Helly
muttered, "and I hope you'll never
come here again."
"Then you'll never come again," Helly said quickly, her temper rising
every moment.
"Why, Helly!" Glenn remonstrated.
"You forget yourself."
"No, I do not forget myself," she
quickly interposed.
"You owe Betty an apology," Glenn
continued.
"Then I owe something that I'll never pay," Helly retorted, with promptness. "But I do not owe her
an apology. She owes me an apology."
"I'm sure I've nothing to apologize
for!" Betty said, tossing her head.
"The idea of my apologizing, when
she has been saying such rude things!
Come along Glenn!"
Helly heard the front door close on them, but kept her seat at the table for some minutes; and with a trembling hand, her brow swollen, her lips tight,
